Over half of prep seniors tried drug

'Pot' use seen heavy

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than half of the Bicentennial class of high school seniors tried marijuana and three out of 10 were users at graduation time, according to government surveys.

The National Institute on Drug Abuse surveyed 17,000 high school seniors in 130 schools last spring and found that 53 per cent had tried marijuana, a 5 per cent increase over the class of 1975.

The survey, released today, said 32 per cent regarded themselves as current marijuana users.

An identical 53 per cent of persons aged 18 to 25 had tried marijuana, according to another institute survey, and 25 per cent were current users. It showed 22 per cent of 12-to-17-year-olds had experimented with marijuana and 15 per cent were regular or occasional users.

Although cigarettes and alcohol were used more frequently than marijuana by young adults, 57 per cent of high school seniors thought there was a serious health risk for cigarettes while only 40 per cent felt the same way about marijuana.

The findings indicated the use of LSD has remained virtually constant the last four years, and that abuse of heroin and psychotherapeutic drugs has been unchanged the last two years.

The rate of cocaine use was the same this year as in 1975.

Dr. Robert L. DuPont, the institute's director, said comparison of the surveys show "an apparent stabilization in drug use and the attitudes toward drugs in general."

"The public, including youth, clearly recognizes the addictive effects of tobacco and alcohol and has very negative attitudes toward the use of all illicit drugs except marijuana," he said.

"Although drug abuse continues to be widespread in every region of the country, we are seeing some slight downward trends for amphetamines, LSD and barbiturates. Marijuana is the only drug showing a definite upward trend."

Two other government-sponsored surveys released at the same time showed that drug abuse costs the nation between $8.4 billion and $12.2 billion a year, more than tobacco smoking, but less than alcoholism.

More than 60 per cent of the cost of drug abuse was attributed to heroin abuse. The median costs of $10.3 billion in fiscal 1975 included medical, judicial, law enforcement, criminal and employment expenses and debts. The study estimated that tobacco use costs $6.7 billion and alcohol and alcoholism cost $32 billion.

New rate takes effect Saturday

Water prices going up

The price of water is going up. Little blue cards bearing the bad news are accompanying the water bills of area residents this month.

The Ohio Water Service Co. has received authorization to increase the water rates charged in the Washington C.H. service territory by the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio (PUCO).

The local water service company requested an increase in early 1975. When that application was submitted, a request to place part of the proposed increase into effect on an emergency basis was approved by the PUCO.

Area residents met that emergency increase in September of last year. The new, permanent rate increase will go into effect Saturday, although the high rates won't be reflected until the January billing.

The water company's rates had remained unchanged for nearly 15 years until last year's emergency rate increase. Meanwhile, the cost of supplying water to the Washington C.H. area has been going up, company officials said.

After a hearing in 1975 concerning the rate increase the PUCO reported that the local company was faced with "extraordinary circumstances" and "a pressing need for relief."

Residents who use less than 200 cubic feet of water per month will feel the increase the least. All usage up to that amount is billed the monthly minimum charge which is $3.26 and will be $4.

Consumers of more than the 200 cubic feet minimum charge will be harder hit. Usage from 200 to 1,800 cubic feet per month will increase from 74 cents to $1.35 per 100 cubic feet.

In other words, if a resident's water bill is presently $6 — 570 cubic feet per month which will appear as $7 on the water bill received in the mail — it will be $9 after the increase.

The city sewer bill which follows residents water bills each month will not be affected by the increase. Sewer bills are determined in the amount of water used per household and water rates are not involved in figuring sewer rates.

Pam Doyle crowned as Miss Snow Queen

Parade royalty selected

Pam Doyle, a senior at Miami Trace High School, will reign over the Washington C.H. Christmas parade Dec. 4.

Miss Doyle, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Doyle, 64 S. Main St., New Holland, was crowned the 1976 Snow Queen Monday night at the final judging in the Washington C.H. Middle School cafeteria. She was one of six finalist vying for the annual honor of riding on the parade's royalty float.

The other five finalists, Cindy Dennis, Gale Fitzpatrick, Lana Hess, Alisa Hughes and Karen Kiger, were among the 45 girls entered in the queen contest for high school students.

Each finalist responded to one question at Monday's program. Miss Doyle was selected the winner by judges Dave Loudner, Roshell Thomas, and Robert Harper.

Mrs. John Marcum, general chairman of the program, crowned the queen with a silver tiara.

Flanking Miss Doyle on the royalty float will be Laurie Merritt and Jackie Selig. The two girls were crowned Miss Snow Princess and Little Miss Snow Princess during Monday's program.

Miss Merritt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Merritt, 5145 U.S. 62-S, was selected over five other finalists for the Miss Snow Princess crown. The other five finalists were Diana Hughes, Crystal Lewis, Kelly Reeves, Lori Wilson and Shelia Terry.

The finalists were selected on the basis of their ideas about what the Christmas parade offers the community. The winner was selected after each of the finalists answered a question Monday night.

Miss Selig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Selig, 683 Comfort Lane, gave the winning response to the judges' question in the Little Miss Snow Princess finals. The other five finalists were Amy Webb, Ginger Finney, Kelly Hinchee, Kendra Croy, and Dawn Bennington.

Miss Merritt is a seventh grade student at Eber Junior High School and Miss Selig is a kindergarten pupil at Belle-Aire Elementary School.

The queen and the two princesses shared more than $100 in prizes donated by area merchants.

Andy Anderson was the master of ceremonies for Monday's program that is sponsored annually by the Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce.

Andre Malraux dies

PARIS (AP) — Andre Malraux, the novelist, art historian, philosopher and Gaullist cabinet minister, died today, the French news agency Agence France Presse reported. He was 75.

Malraux entered the Creteil Hospital last Tuesday for treatment of a lung congestion. He developed a blood clot in a lung Sunday night and grew steadily worse. His doctor reported Monday that his condition was hopeless.

Malraux was one of the 20th century's most brilliant men of letters, but he was also a man of action — an explorer, archeologist, adventurer, early Communist revolutionary, a much-decorated World War II hero and a close friend and cabinet minister of President Charles De Gaulle.

His life was full of tragedy. His wealthy father committed suicide and family legend claims his grandfather died the same. His two half-brothers were killed during World War II. His wartime mistress, Josette Clotis, was killed in a train crash as France was being liberated. Their two sons died together in 1961 when their speeding sports car smashed into a tree in Central France.

A colonel in the French Resistance, Malraux faced a German execution squad in 1944. It was a cruel hoax, but the experience inspired some of his deepest insight into a theme that always haunted him: man's confrontation with death.

Malraux organized a bomber squadron for the Republican side in the Spanish civil war and flew 65 combat missions before being wounded. That war produced "L'Espeir," of "Man's Hope," the companion piece to "Man's Fate" and a vision of totalitarianism in action.

At the outbreak of World War II, he became an enlisted man in the French armored forces which also produced De Gaulle.

Carter continues Washington meets

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect Jimmy Carter, after meeting with President Ford, is planning discussions with leaders of Congress.

Carter's second day of meetings on his first trip here since the election were on Capitol Hill today, but spokesmen for legislators he planned to see said they were unsure about discussion topics.

Carter spent 75 minutes with President Ford on Monday and said afterwards: "There cannot have been a better demonstration of unity and friendship and goodwill than has been shown to me by President Ford since the election."

"The transition will be one which will be conducive to peace in our own nation and peace around the world," Carter said after an Oval Office conference on the transition to a Carter administration.

Carter, staying at Blair House, the government guest house across Pennsylvania Avenue from the White House, also met with several members of Ford's Cabinet.

At the Capitol on Monday there was some mystery about what Carter planned to discuss at meetings he requested with House and Senate committee chairmen, the House International Relations Committee, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and with GOP congressional leaders.

Vice President-elect Walter F. Mondale was to join in the meetings.

The congressmen are among those whose support Carter will need if he hopes to assure success for his legislative program.

A Democratic staff member said there was no agenda for the session with House committee chairmen, but that Carter probably would discuss government reorganization, foreign policy and economic problems.

Carter's press secretary, Jody Powell, said Monday night the meetings were requested by Carter to make contact "with the people on the Hill, giving them a chance to get to know" the incoming president.

Powell said earlier that Carter wanted to talk with the foreign affairs panels to advance his plans for a bipartisan foreign policy in which Congress would play a greater role.

After their meeting, Ford and Carter walked on the lawn and Ford told reporters "the transition is working smoothly."

"It has been a real pleasure and a privilege for Mrs. Ford and myself to have Gov. Carter and Mrs. Carter as our guests," he said.

While the President and President-elect talked, Ford's wife, Betty, showed Carter's wife, Rosalynn, around the White House.

Earlier, Mrs. Carter visited the principal of Stevens School, the Washington public school that nine-year-old Amy Carter might attend.

Carter thanked Ford "for the gracious way in which he has welcomed me to meet with his heads of departments to teach me about the future responsibilities which I will assume."

Powell said Carter described the meeting as "a very substantive discussion." Powell said "a good part of the time" was spent on foreign affairs.

Missouri man stricken by swine flu, tests confirm

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A Missouri man who had not received a swine flu inoculation has recovered from the first confirmed case of the disease since a Fort Dix, N.J., soldier died of it nine months ago, officials say.

Federal officials who have been directing the nationwide swine flu immunization drive said there was no reason to fear the isolated case signaled an epidemic.

The man was identified Monday by the Missouri Health Division. Dr. H. Denny Donnell, director of its medical section, said he was "a young man in his 30s in western Missouri, in Lafayette County."

"He has recovered from his illness," Donnell said, adding that the man missed work for several days but was not hospitalized.

He said the man contracted a "flu-like illness" in mid-October and said blood studies confirmed the disease as swine flu. He said the man had not been immunized against swine flu then, but has since had a shot.

"We are in the process of further investigation to attempt to determine the origin, if possible, and the extent and spread, if any, from his illness," Donnell said.

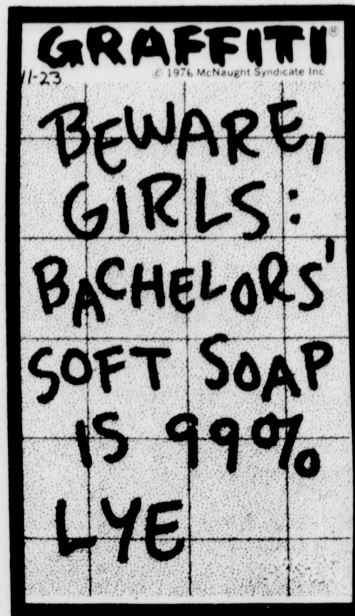

In Atlanta, David Sencer of the federal Center for Disease Control said there was no reason for public alarm.

"We've had cases like this before where people have had contact with pigs, and we don't get all excited about it," he said.

Blood samples have been taken from about 20 persons in the community where the man with the swine flu lives, Donnell said. He said none has shown any signs of the illness.

More than 20 million Americans have been inoculated against swine flu, says the U.S. Public Health Service. Officials have said the program is "gaining momentum," but concern has been expressed about a lag in urban areas.

The program got off to a rocky start soon after it started this fall, with reports of deaths among elderly recipients causing several states to stop giving shots temporarily. Officials concluded the shots were not a factor in causing the deaths.

State faces nursing home fund crisis

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Because the state plan for assisting nursing homes has apparently been judged unacceptable, the Ohio Department of Public Welfare may owe the federal government $60 million, the State Controlling Board has learned.

"We've received indications that they will not approve the state plan for reimbursement" of nursing homes,

William Stone, welfare department fiscal officer, told the board. The $60 million includes money already paid to the state and future federal reimbursements that would be cut off, Stone said.

Puzzled legislators on the control board decided to attempt to set up a meeting with Clyde V. Downing, regional commissioner of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, based in Chicago.

In other action, board members voted to approve purchase of some 200 acres of land from four different owners for addition to Malabar State Park near Mansfield.

Under temporary state law, the welfare department has permitted nursing homes a "profit allowance" over and above their actual cost of operation. The plan applied to homes which receive state financial assistance.

When he vetoed a daily $1.50 per patient nursing home profit allowance incorporated in a Medicaid reform bill last month, Gov. James A. Rhodes cited a statement by Downing that the state formula conflicted with federal regulations. Rhodes' veto was overridden by the legislature on Nov. 9.

The board, controlled by Democrats, deferred a request by the Ohio welfare agency to change the formula and decided to arrange a meeting with the federal official sometime next week.

"So we're spending state bucks that are not going to be reimbursed as contemplated," concluded control board president Robert Howarth. "We're really in a damned if we do, damned if we don't position."

"I'm going to call this no more than a threat," added House Finance Chairman Myrl H. Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville. "You are asking the control board to remove what the legislature has done."

Stone said the state agency dropped the profit allowance in October payments to nursing homes. State policy for the remainder of the year apparently will depend on the meeting with Downing and subsequent action by the control board or legislature.

The combined sale price for the Malabar property was $305,000, up $1,000 because the option on one parcel expired during two previous delays by the board in granting the Department of Natural Resources authority to buy the land.

The board has delayed the purchases for more than a month because an audit is underway on the state operation of the 635-acre farm. Board members admitted they were uncertain of the details or purpose of the audit by state Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson.

The controllers approved a grant of $131,000 for planning, operation and equipment costs at the Ohio State Firemen's Training Academy in suburban Reynoldsburg. The academy is expected to open in mid-1977.

Ferguson was permitted to waive competitive bidding to hire Price, Waterhouse and Co. to audit the payroll records of the transportation department's Oberlin Garage.

A state auditor's office examiner who once operated the garage has been indicted in Lorain County for misuse of state funds and equipment, according to Deputy Auditor John Blum.

Under the circumstances, Blum said an outside audit would be more appropriate. The defendant in the case is currently on leave from Ferguson's office, awaiting trial, Blum said.

In other action, the board:

- Approved $178,000 for repairs and renovation at Cleveland State University.

- Approved release of $507,000 for an extension to the utility system at Ohio University's Clippinger Hall.

- Backed a request from auditor Ferguson for waiver of competitive bidding to hire Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Co. for an evaluation of data processing security functions of the Regional Income Tax Agency in Cuyahoga County. The estimated cost was put at a maximum $40,000.

- Authorized release of $128,000 for remodeling of the women's ward at Lima State Hospital.

- Approved release of $1.19 million to the Mental Health Department for certification renovation of the Medical and Surgical Building at Cleveland Developmental Center.

- Approved release of $2.2 million to natural resources for planning funds at Deer Creek Lodge and Golf Course in Fayette and Pickaway counties.

- Released $24,874 to natural resources for development of a program to plug idle oil and gas wells that have been abandoned and $51,254 to reclaim pre-law strip mined land.

will not allow his national security adviser to encroach on the authority of his secretary of state.

Skeptics recall, however, that Kissinger himself said when he became NSC chief that he would engage principally in long range planning, leaving the conduct of policy to the State Department.

As it turned out, Kissinger seized effective control over the most important decisions, such as the Vietnam negotiations and the overtures to China, while Secretary of State William P. Rogers, was often kept in the dark. Kissinger served jointly as NSC chief and secretary of state from 1973 until last year, when former Air Force Gen. Brent Scowcroft took the NSC job.

One source familiar with Carter's thinking said the new NSC chief under Carter probably will not be nearly as powerful as Kissinger nor as low-profile as the incumbent, Scowcroft.

The source envisions a restoration of the type of NSC role filled by McGeorge Bundy, who served in the Kennedy and Johnson administrations.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was mixed today, running into some resistance from oil-price worries.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks lost about a point in the early going. But gainers took a 4-3 lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Trading was active.

The market's attention seemed to be focused on a meeting of 10 Arab oil ministers in Kuwait to discuss their position on a price-increase decision scheduled for Dec. 15.

Iraq's oil minister said his country insists on a 25 per cent increase in the oil price, while a spokesman for some other members of the group called for a more moderate approach.

Today's early prices included Texas Oil & Gas, down 1/4 at 25 1/4; Utah International, off 3/4 at 63 3/4; and American Telephone, up 1/4 at 61 3/4.

On Monday the Dow Jones industrial average gained 7.07 to 955.87.

Advances outnumbered declines by close to a 5-2 margin on the NYSE, and the exchange's composite index rose .35 to 54.96.

Big Board volume came to 20.93 million shares.

GOP seeks new national chairman

WASHINGTON (AP) — Divided and then defeated, Republicans are going to have to get their act together in a hurry now that Mary Louise Smith has announced she is resigning as GOP national chairman.

They have eight weeks to agree on a successor or line up sides for a fight. They not only need a chairman, they need somebody, or some group, to speak for the party on matters of national policy.

Mrs. Smith, who took the party's top post 26 months ago at the request of President Ford, announced on Monday that she will resign upon the selection of a new chairman. That will come at a Republican National Committee meeting on Jan. 14 and 15.

Neither Ford nor Ronald Reagan, principals in the 1976 fight for GOP power, had any public comment on her departure or possible successor.

Associates said Ford had indicated to Mrs. Smith that he would prefer to have her remain at the committee. Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller asked her to stay, as did other administration leaders.

But at the same time, the conservative wing of the party, where Reagan's power is based, gave signals that she should go.

Although Reagan declined comment, Pete Hannaford, an aide, noted that it is customary in both parties for the national chairman to resign after an election defeat. Hannaford said he did not know whether Reagan would make any recommendations on a successor, "but he will obviously be interested in who is selected."

While some conservatives have said Reagan should be the chairman, the former California governor has said he doesn't want the job.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said Mrs. Smith met with Ford last Thursday to inform him of her decision. He declined to discuss Ford's role in the naming of a successor, but said Ford "certainly considers himself to be the head of the Republican party."

That's what the impending fight is about, for Reagan's conservative followers do not agree.

Mrs. Smith's timing surprised some party professionals, which may account for the initial silence from the two top GOP figures.

One knowledgeable Republican said she had not been expected to step aside so soon. Mrs. Smith, the wife of a Des Moines, Iowa, physician, was elected to a two-year term at the Republican National Convention in August. Had she chosen to remain, it would have taken a two-thirds vote of the national committee to oust her.

Mrs. Smith told associates she did not want to stay at the committee for two years, and that she felt it best to quit immediately, so a successor can begin to prepare for the 1978 elections.

Lehrer got Joslin to tell him his name and his address, a residence in Pittstown in neighboring Rensselaer County.

Lehrer said the youth mentioned troubles with a girl friend and said that he did not know the meaning of life.

"He was impressed that somebody — me — was taking time to care, to take an interest," Lehrer said. "I guess he just wanted some expression of love. Also, he was impressed that listeners were calling up about him."

"But at 10 minutes before four, he said he was going to hang himself and hung up."

In purchasing aerosol products containing chlorofluorocarbons and to encourage them to seek alternative products," said FDA Commissioner Alexander M. Schmidt.

"Our goal is to reduce consumer use of chlorofluorocarbons in aerosols by voluntary action until such aerosols are phased out by mandatory regulation," he said.

"This action is unique and should represent the first of a worldwide series of actions by all nations to limit the release of chlorofluorocarbons into the atmosphere. Given the long-term nature of the hazard, the way in which we are going about the phase-out and warning labels on aerosols will be to the consumer's maximum benefit," Schmidt said.

Ohio vote recount expected

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Secretary of State Ted W. Brown was to announce today final official results of the presidential election in Ohio between President Ford and Jimmy Carter. A recount was viewed as a near certainty.

An aide to Brown said Monday that Carter's margin would be well under the one-half of 1 per cent which guarantees petitioners a recount at state expense.

Brown, a Republican who is Ohio's chief election officer, said he would accede to a request for a recount by a majority of Ford

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT

AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — You saw her winning gold medals in Montreal this summer, courtesy of ABC. Tonight, you'll see her back home in Romania, sharing the bill with comic Flip Wilson, courtesy of CBS.

I have reference to Nadia Comaneci, the world's most famous 14-year-old gymnast. She's the main attraction in tonight's CBS special, "Nadia — From Romania With Love." It commences at 8 p.m. EST.

If you plan to watch it, don't expect this one-hour program to delve into the personal life of the little lady or give any hint how — or if — her Olympic fame has affected her or her family.

The show, made by Wilson's production company and Romania's state-run broadcast works, is a curious, if amiable, mish-mash of various scenes that seem intended to tout Romania as much as Nadia.

It includes stunning displays of gymnastic beauty, gentle Wilson humor, a plug for a Romanian pop music star named Olympia, and several segments that are, well, stock travelogue material.

Said segments show some ladies in traditional Romanian costumes en route to a "ritual love dance." Later, some hearties, also in historic and colorful garb, do a leaping-about dance that Wilson informs us has been the rage in Romania for 2,000 years.

All of it makes this customer suspect a Romanian tourist official rounded up some dancers and told them, "Okay, get out there and look traditional. This is American television."

Whatever the case, neither it nor Olympia the singer add a heckuva lot to the proceedings.

The hour gets cooking only when it shows Nadia, her Olympic teammates, and younger female gymnasts not even in their teens, all working out on and off the beams.

Wilson, whose humor at times can be abrasive, is low-key and relatively unobtrusive in this look at Nadia & Co. He acts primarily as a narrator who gently and deftly gags it up with the kids now and then.

Early in the program, you'll see Romanian first-graders training for the Olympics and probably will wonder if that's all they do there — train, train, train.

If they also open school books and study, it isn't shown. A pity. Some viewers may get the impression all the kids will get out of life is a Ph.D. in parallel bars.

But the gymnastics, some filmed in slow-motion, are incredible, particularly the display Nadia's best friend and teammate, Theodora Ungureanu, puts on against an all-white backdrop. It's sheer poetry.

Another fine sequence: The gymnastics exhibition Nadia and her teammates put on in her hometown gymnasium before a friendly, enthusiastic crowd of fans, friends and relatives.

Tonight's hour is fairly good. But it could have been so much better had it dumped the tourist stuff and looked at the personal side of Nadia, her teammates and the kids who will follow them.

A change for the condor

The California condor is not a pretty bird. It has a naked, vulturous red head which most people find unattractive. In response it lacks the fiery noble aspect that has made the eagle such a popular symbol.

When it takes wing, however, the California condor is something to behold. This largest of North American land birds can soar almost endlessly on the thermal currents that buoy up its nine-foot wingspan. In flight, the condor is a creature of extraordinary beauty.

In a sense, this has nothing to do with the matter - the matter, that is, of this magnificent bird's threatened demise. Lesser endangered species are worthy of concern, too, as a part of our dwindling natural heritage. The condor is simply more conspicuous than most.

Once these huge creatures could be seen all along the Pacific Coast, from Mexico north to Canada. A decade ago their numbers had been reduced to about 55; now they are down to 45 or so. Environmentalists would like to reverse the fatal trend, but they disagree on how to set about it.

The Condor Recovery Team,

sponsored by various government agencies, is seeking Fish and Wildlife Service approval of a plan to breed condors in captivity and release young birds into the wilds. While the Audubon Society seems to favor the plan, the Sierra Club opposes it as having little chance of success.

However valid the Sierra Club's misgivings may be, they seem essentially negative. If there is any reasonable chance of strengthening the condor's tenuous hold on existence as a species, we believe the attempt should be made.

WASHINGTON CALLING By Marquis Childs

Harriman still serves the nation

WASHINGTON — So much in this column over the years has been devoted to criticism and fault-finding that it is a pleasure to write a tribute — yes, a sentimental tribute — to a great American who is observing his 85th birthday. At 85, W. Averell Harriman is as alert and as concerned with the condition of the world as he was when he was an active participant in world affairs 30 years or more ago.

Harriman and his wife Pamela recently returned from Moscow where he had a three-hour discussion with Communist Party Chairman Leonid Brezhnev. Harriman told friends on his return that he thought he had performed the greatest service, as a private citizen, of his entire life.

While it was written that he had gone as the representative of President-elect Jimmy Carter, this was not entirely accurate. A considerable discussion with Carter had preceded his departure. But he did not go in any official capacity.

Brezhnev, as they sat down to talk in the Kremlin, confronted Harriman with a series of statements made during the presidential campaign the general tenor of which was the need to get tougher with the Soviet Union and to budget larger amounts for weaponry and particularly nuclear weapons.

Harriman did not, as has been written, dismiss this as merely campaign rhetoric. He said it was a time for patience and judgment should be postponed until after the election.

On his side, Brezhnev discussed frankly the hard-liners in the Kremlin and their doubts about any relaxation of tensions with the United States. He said he had committed himself to the policy that had led to SALT I and, hopefully, would bring about SALT II.

Harriman was convinced that Brezhnev had put his position in as honest and straightforward a fashion as possible. He did not hesitate to remind the chairman of some of the embarrassments arising under the Helsinki agreement, with flagrant violations of freedom of exit and other stipulations.

After Moscow the Harrimans went to Yugoslavia where diplomatic bungling had produced a thicket of ill will.

This was compounded by Carter's own ill-advised comment on whether or not American troops should intervene if the independence of Yugoslavia were threatened upon the death of 84-year-old Marshal Tito. Harriman had extensive talks that helped to ease the situation.

To characterize Harriman as a hawk or a dove in nonsense and in particular because of one of the crucial steps in his career. Ambassador to Moscow in the closing years of World War II, he returned to Washington after the armistice to tell President Truman the full truth about Stalin's post-war plans.

The dictator had not the slightest intention of removing Russian troops from Eastern Europe and giving the satellites a chance for independence. This was his preserve and he intended to keep it with all the ruthlessness that had seen the extinction of millions of Soviet citizens.

I have a vivid memory of a session with Harriman held at that time with a dozen or so commentators in which he sought to give us the same facts. The pro-Soviet propaganda during the war had been very strong and some were reluctant to believe him. But every word he spoke was proved by later events.

With the enormous arsenal of nuclear weapons on each side of the divide, Harriman has come to believe there is no alternative but not, as he has put it, to peaceful co-existence but competitive co-existence; competitive in all fields of excellence.

I am sure his influence will be in opposition to ever-larger military budgets and to the limited nuclear war that is part of the Schlesinger doctrine with active disciples prepared to push it. He wants nothing for himself except, as in Moscow, the role of good citizen.

Returning from Europe recently, I told him I had talked with many Europeans who took it for granted that Harriman would be the next Secretary of State. He laughed. "Ten years ago I would have been interested," he said, "but not today."

As ambassador to London and to Moscow, as governor of New York, with a half-dozen posts in the State Department, including an effort to end the Vietnam war long before the sorry collapse that brought such opprobrium on the United States, Carter should draw on this range of experience not merely in the interval of transition but once he is in the White House — and not occasionally, but on a week-to-week basis.

May I say for myself that I hope this wise man can be with us until 90 or, for that matter, 100. Born very rich, he might have been a polo player and playboy and one of those donors who save their conscience by tax-deductable gifts. He has instead been a foremost public citizen in a nation where that title is all too rare.

Atwater's New History of Ohio in 1838 declared that there were 17,000 abolitionists in the state. Then, in Trumbull County alone, there were 2,249 enrolled members.—AP

"WELL — IT'S ROUND. I CAN'T CHANGE THAT."

Big money sought for arts school

By GREG THOMPSON

Associated Press Writer
DALLAS (AP) — Dallas' millionaires had better take notice.

Dr. Kermit Hunter, just retired as dean of Southern Methodist University's Meadows School of the Arts, is going after big money for his school.

And Hunter has a history of succeeding at what he sets out to do. At one time or another, Hunter, 65, bought and sold minor league baseball players in West Virginia, studied piano at the Juilliard School of Music, managed the North Carolina Symphony and earned a doctorate in English literature at the University of North Carolina.

He was a newspaper reporter for six years and a professor of literature for eight; he directed the American defense of the Caribbean during World War II and won the Legion of Merit; and he has written more outdoor dramas seen by more people than any other American playwright.

Hunter, who retired June 1 after steering the Meadows School through its first 12 years, is now writer-in-residence and head development officer there.

"I think we can get $10 million to $15 million in 12 to 18 months for the Meadows School," said Hunter. "We're going after the big money — two-three-four million dollar gifts."

The fund-raising drive is part of SMU's latest concentrated effort at boosting its endowment.

Hunter said the Meadows School, founded in 1964, largely through the efforts of Dallas oil millionaire Algur H. Meadows, has an actual endowment of about $6 million. His goal is $35 million.

When he's not coaxing money from millionaires, Hunter is continuing his career as a playwright. He's written more than 40 outdoor productions, seen by more than six million persons. Thirteen of Hunter's plays, including five new ones, were performed this summer.

"No other American playwright has 13 dramas in production," Hunter said. "As far as I know, no American playwright other than Dr. Paul Green has ever had more than 40 plays done professionally."

Hunter and Green, a former University of North Carolina philosophy professor, are in the forefront of the outdoor historical drama movement.

Plain sex talk

about paraplegics

DEAR ABBY: PUZZLED IN NEW YORK couldn't understand why a nurse he was engaged to marry dropped him for a patient who was paralyzed from the waist down. He asked, "What good can he do her as a husband?" Well, I have news for PUZZLED.

I am married to a paraplegic. His spine was severed by a bullet that rendered his legs useless, but the rest of him is just fine. He is just like any other man in all respects except he rolls instead of walks.

And anyone who thinks that sex isn't a part of our marriage is really stupid. Paralyzed people need love, and they can give it too. And for the record, we are both 22.

HAPPY IN ILLINOIS

DEAR ABBY: Read on for another interesting letter from a reader who also speaks with authority, with a view from a wheelchair:

DEAR ABBY: May I answer PUZZLED IN N.Y., the healthy able-bodied man who was engaged to a nurse, but lost her to a policeman who was paralyzed from the waist down? PUZZLED asked, "How can he do her any good as a husband?"

DEAR PUZZLED:

As a totally paralyzed person in a wheelchair, I think I can tell you a few things you ought to know. Just because a person's legs stop functioning, it doesn't mean his mind and heart also stop. He can still think, get angry, make decisions and love.

Perhaps one day you will be able to see things in a different light. I can assure you that seeing things from a wheelchair not only changes your level of viewing life, but also broadens your appreciation of it.

It is possible that your former fiancée's life with a paralyzed husband could be highly rewarding in all respects, and that means sexually, too.

I want to caution you about something. The possibility of your becoming paralyzed or suffering some form of disability is one in 10 . . . and growing greater every year. Don't gamble your happiness on only being able to stand up.

WHEELCHAIR IN FORT WORTH

DEAR READERS: If you would like some excellent information and/or instruction on how to handle your sexual feelings satisfactorily through physically handicapped, get in touch with your County or State Easter Seal Society, also known as Society For Crippled Children and Adults.

And the office of SIECUS (Sex Information and Education Council of the U.S., 1855 Broadway, New York, N.Y. 10023) can also provide you with helpful material. Both agencies also can provide information about the help that is available to you in your own community.

Both above agencies are non profit, so if you write to inquire about the help that's available to you in your own community, please enclose a stamped, addressed envelope for their reply.

Three charges filed

Police officers arrest check forgery suspect

An 18-year-old Martinsville woman was arrested Monday by Washington C.H. police officers and charged with three counts of check forgery.

Crystal D. Jackson was arrested following a joint investigation conducted by Fayette County Sheriff's Sgt. William Crooks and Washington C.H. Police Specialist Larry Walker.

She has been charged with forging and cashing checks at Evans Market, Bloomingburg, and at Sagar's Dairy Store, Washington Avenue and the B and J Carryout, Blackstone Avenue. The alleged incidents occurred in October, Walker said, and the particular checks had been reported stolen by Washington C.H. resident Terri Penn who said they had been removed from her car as it was parked in Sabina.

The suspect is currently incarcerated in the Fayette County jail, pending an initial appearance in Washington C.H. Municipal Court.

The investigation is still being conducted by both Washington C.H. Police and Fayette County Sheriff's departments.

Dice property sold

The Jean Howat Dice home, 513 Leesburg Ave., was sold for $40,000 in David L. Cooper, 2367 Lewis Road, Saturday in a public auction conducted by F.J. Weade Associates, Inc.

The property, appraised at $75,000, was sold to the highest of the four bidders seeking to purchase the estate.

Included in the sale was 1.475 acres with a 237-foot frontage along Leesburg Avenue and 315-foot frontage on Highland Avenue. The ten-room, two-story house dates back to 1842.

Auctioneer Frank J. Weade said the $35,000 difference in the sale and the appraised price was very unusual adding that he thought the appraisal was too high.

The true test of any value is to submit it to the public for sale," Weade said.

The 126-acre Dice farm was not included in Saturday's sale. It will be sold at a later date when the lease on the acreage expires.

Lucasville security probe set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — After three escape attempts in an 11-day span, state prison officials have sent an investigating team to the Southern Ohio Correctional Facility to study the prison's security.

"This team of officials will have full authority to make any immediate changes in current security procedures that they may determine are necessary," said George F. Denton, director of the Department of Rehabilitation and Correction.

Denton said the three-man team will conduct a "thorough evaluation of existing security procedures." He said the probe will continue "as long as necessary," but added that he expects most of the evaluation to be complete within a week.

Denton said that although the three escape attempts may indicate weaknesses in some areas of security, the Lucasville prison's overall security must be considered sound since none of the attempts was successful.

The investigating team will include E. Blaine Haskins, department assistant director; John P. Canney, chief of the department's division of institutions, and Frank Carnein, security administrator for the department.

The probe comes on the heels of three escape attempts, including back-to-back attempts Friday and Saturday.

On Nov. 10, two inmates sprinted across the prison yard and scaled two prison fences. One was apprehended just outside the fence, but the other had to be hunted down in the woods near the prison.

On Friday, nine inmates were being transported to Columbus when two .22-caliber pistols were pulled and the driver of the small van ordered to stop. The driver and guard veered off the road and leaped from the van as they were fired upon. None of the inmates got out of the van.

On Saturday morning, two inmates escaped from their cell window and ran for the prison fences. The guard towers opened fire on the pair, and both surrendered in the prison yard.

After the Friday attempt, prison officials ordered that all inmates being transported must be strip-searched and change into special orange coveralls before boarding vehicles.

Department spokesman Joseph Ashley said Monday the department is still trying to determine how the guns got into the van. He said investigators believe only one inmate was involved in the attempt.

Ashley said the current investigation will also include searches of cellblocks and other areas, looking for weapons or any situations that might create the possibility of escape.

Ashley said searches of various cells also were conducted over the weekend.

Utility billing 'reasonable'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The first state ruling under a law regulating the way electric companies pass through increased coal costs to residential customers has found Ohio Edison's monthly billings are "fair and reasonable."

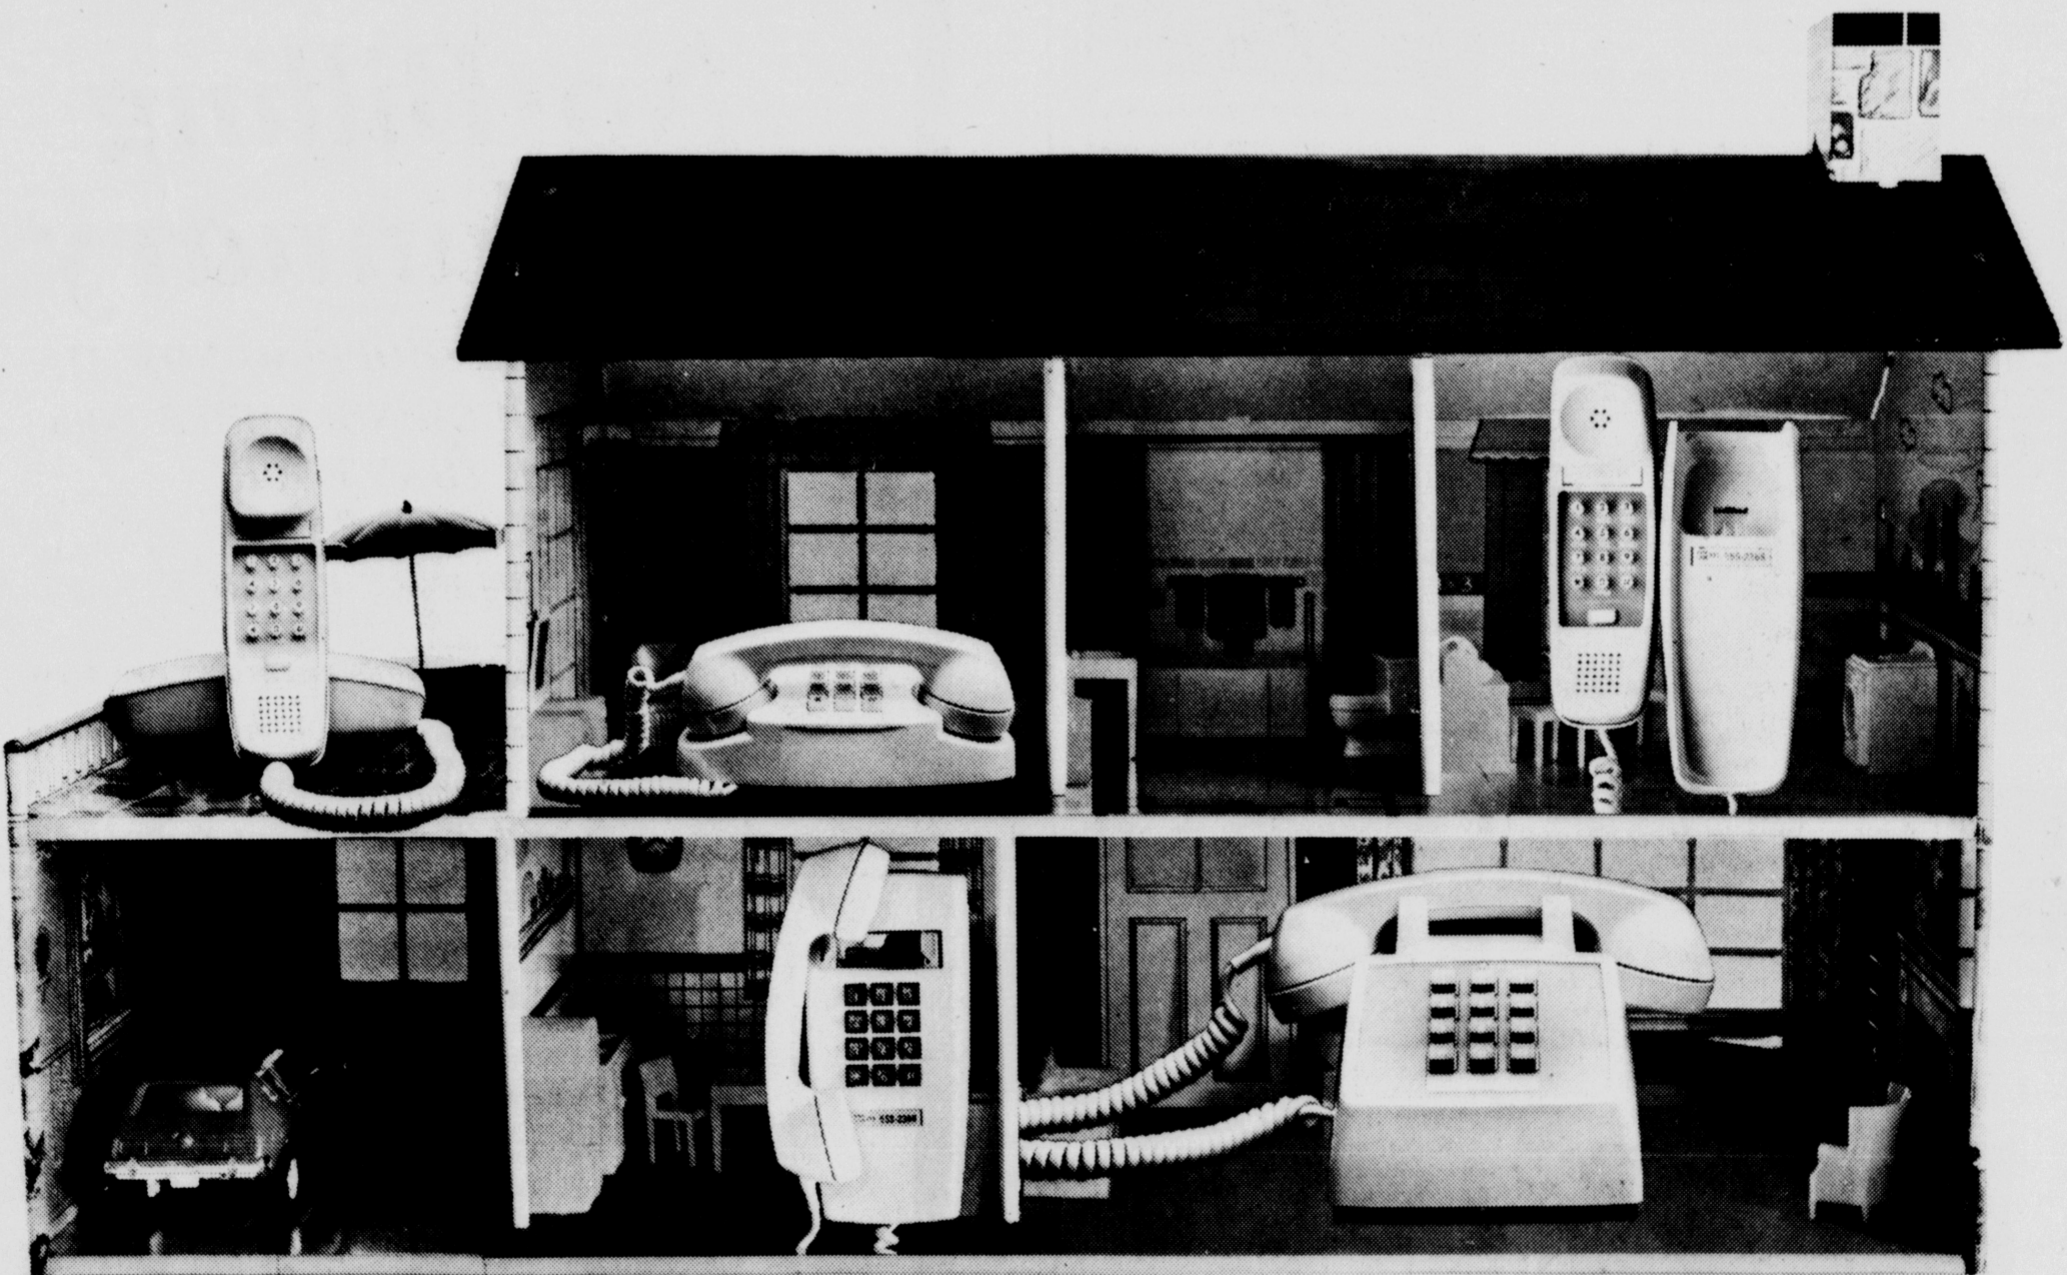

But the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio said Monday the company's thermal or coalburning efficiency program has steadily declined and should be explained in more detail.

"If a plant is thermally efficient, it is using the minimum amount of fuel to generate the maximum amount of electricity," a PUCO spokesman said.

"While there are problems in thermal efficiency, all that really means anything is there is no call for any adjustments or rebates at this time."

The PUCO audit said Ohio Edison's company-owned mining operation was producing coal at a reasonable cost, while the utility has cut down its reliance on high priced, spot market coal.

Prayer breakfast draws 74 persons

Seventy-four persons attended the teen prayer breakfast held at the South Side Church of Christ Tuesday morning.

Decorations of pumpkins and candles highlighted the Thanksgiving theme during the meditation time. "That First Thanksgiving" was the theme used by the Rev. Charles Richmond for the meditation time.

Latonda Baily sang "How Great Thou Art" accompanied by Mrs. Libby Yerian. Latonda Baily and Betsy Owen, both freshmen at Washington Senior High School, led the singing.

Maurice Pfeifer, principal at Washington Senior High School, offered prayer for the food. A breakfast of scrambled eggs and ham, pumpkin bread and milk was served. Jon Creamer, teacher at Washington Senior High School, spoke on "It's Difficult to be Thankful."

The next prayer breakfast will be held on November 30 at 6:45 a.m. All teens, grades 9 through 12, are welcome.

The copious consumption of intoxicants in early Ohio, according to the Ohio Historical Society, was not confined to any group or class. It reported that at Granville in Licking County there were six distilleries and the 1,700 people in the township consumed 10,000 gallons of whisky annually. Farmers usually took a load of corn to the distillery and received a barrel of liquor in exchange.—AP

Gilmore hearing moved up one week

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Gary Gilmore, weakening in his fourth day without food, will appear before a special meeting of the Utah Board of Pardons one week from today to demand that he be allowed to die before a firing squad.

Board member Thomas Harrison said Monday that the three-man panel decided to move the hearing from Dec. 6 to Nov. 30 to avoid conflict with a state law requiring that executions be carried out within 60 days of sentencing.

Gilmore's 60 days will be up on Dec. 7, and some officials have said they were concerned the law might be interpreted as requiring that he be released if he were not executed by then.

The 35-year-old Gilmore has fought attempts to delay his execution for the slaying of a Provo motel clerk during a robbery. He has said he will plead personally before the board for a speedy death.

The board must either uphold the death sentence or commute it to life imprisonment, and the chairman has indicated board members may have little choice but to go along with Gilmore's wishes.

One day before Gilmore was to have addressed the board last Wednesday, he and his girl friend, Nicole Barrett, 20, took overdoses of sleeping pills in an apparent suicide plot.

Both are recovering, but Gilmore began a hunger strike Friday night when officials refused to let him telephone Mrs. Barrett at the mental institution where her mother committed her. He has since consumed only water, coffee, sugar and headache medication.

Deputy Warden Leon Hatch said Gilmore, confined to the Utah State Prison infirmary, was weakening. But he said Gilmore's condition was not yet of great concern to the prison doctor.

Prison officials asked the attorney general's office Monday whether they could force Gilmore to accept nourishment by intravenous tubes.

Mrs. Barrett is in a state mental institution in Provo. Officials have declined to release information on her condition.

Meanwhile, Salt Lake County authorities said they had determined that Gilmore obtained the sleeping pills from outside the prison.

Buckeyes fall to 12th

Pittsburgh keeps top spot

By LARRY PALADINO
AP Sports Writer
Michigan's 16-14 upset loss two weeks ago to Big Ten rival Purdue may have not been as devastating as some may have imagined.

Coach Bo Schembechler, whose team dropped from first to fourth in the rankings after the setback, has vaulted up to second behind Pittsburgh, which took over the top spot.
Apparently the Wolverines' 22-0

thrashing of Ohio State on national television Saturday was more impressive to poll voters than Southern California's 24-14 national TV triumph over UCLA.
Instead of moving up from third in the poll, Southern Cal stayed where it was and Michigan replaced previous runnerup UCLA in the balloting by 62 sports writers and broadcasters around the country.

Michigan, 10-1, and Southern Cal, 9-1, will meet in the Rose Bowl game at Pasadena, Calif., on New Year's Day.

"I would say that game on the West Coast could be for the national championship," Schembechler said.

He wouldn't expand on that when pressed Monday. All season he has sloughed off the significance of the rankings, saying that he'd be concerned with being No. 1 "only in the final poll".

Pittsburgh faces 16th-ranked Penn State on Friday night. A loss could push Michigan back into first place — or maybe Southern Cal, if it can beat Notre Dame on Saturday.

If Pittsburgh beats Penn State it would still have to win over Georgia in the Sugar Bowl to expect a national championship.

Pittsburgh received 39 first-place poll votes (compared with 44 last week) and 1,172 of a possible 1,240 points. Michigan garnered 13 firsts and 1,050 points, while seven voters picked Southern Cal as No. 1. The Trojans are behind Michigan by only four points.

Georgia climbed from a sixth-place tie with Maryland to fourth place, gaining one first-place vote and 807 points. Maryland, headed for the Cotton Bowl owning its first 11-0 record, was fifth with the remaining two firsts and 790 points.

UCLA fell to sixth, followed by Houston, Oklahoma, Texas Tech and Nebraska. Orangebowl bound Ohio State was the only team to drop from the top 10, winding up 12th behind Texas A&M.

Notre Dame is 13th and Colorado and Oklahoma State are tied for 14th. Penn State, Rutgers and Alabama follow. Mississippi and North Carolina round out the top 20, tying for 19th. They replace Iowa State and Missouri, which lost Saturday to Big Eight rivals Oklahoma State and Kansas, respectively.

The Top Twenty teams in The Associated Press college football poll, with first-place votes in parentheses, season records and total points. Points based on 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1:

Colts squeak past Miami in 17-16 TV thriller

MIAMI (AP) — Mike Barnes, who knew little glory in the Orange Bowl while toiling for the University of Miami, surfaced as a hero Monday night in the Baltimore Colts' 17-16 victory over the Miami Dolphins.

The 6-foot-6, 256-pound defensive tackle blocked Garo Yepremian's conversion kick with 12 seconds to play, preserving the victory and first place for the Colts in the American Football Conference's Eastern Division.

"You can't have a game that means more than this did," said Baltimore quarterback Bert Jones. "It makes no difference, one point or 100. The W (Win) on the board is what counts."

The victory gave the Colts a 9-2 record and kept them one game ahead of New England in the tight division race.

"It's a matter of trying every time, and sometimes you get one," said Barnes of his leap to knock down

Yepremian's kick. "The Dolphins scare me. They're a great team. But you're lucky sometimes."

Miami's Jim Langer, centering the ball because of an ankle injury to Bob Kuechenberg, blamed himself for the block because of a low snap. "I just blew it," Langer said. "It's my fault."

Yepremian blamed the miss on "timing." But holder Earl Morrall said, "It didn't seem like that had a kick. They got three or four guys' hands in the air and it's just one of those things."

The miss came after quarterback Bob Griese had moved the Dolphins 69 yards in four plays to a touchdown, 41 yards coming on a pass to Durriel Harris at the Colts' four-yard line. The score came two plays later on a three-yard lunge by Benny Malone.

"It's a tough way to lose," said Miami Coach Don Shula, whose club fell to a 5-6 record and out of playoff contention. "Our team deserved better than what it got."

Jones, who shredded Miami's secondary for 13 completions in 20 attempts and 234 yards, did not agree with Shula.

"We deserved to win," insisted Jones, who passed 25 yards to tight end Raymond Chester for what proved to be the winning touchdown. "If anything, we didn't deserve to lose."

The Colts' other scores came on a six-yard run by Lydell Mitchell and a 27-yard field goal by Toni Linhart. Miami scored on a 20-yard touchdown pass from Griese to Jim Mandich and on a 20-yard Yepremian field goal.

Mitchell ran 20 times for 80 yards for a season total of 1,019 yards — his second straight year over 1,000 yards. He also caught three passes for 42 yards for a season total of 45 receptions for 462 yards.

Illinois fired Blackman in the wake of "a genuine search for a person that can get us to the top of the Big Ten." Blackman, 58, left a highly successful career at Dartmouth in 1970 to replace Coach Jim Valek at Illinois and compiled a 29-36-1 record in six years.

Naviaux, a former College Division Coach of the Year at Boston University, was fired after a 2-9 season in his fourth year at Connecticut. In making the announcement, Athletic Director John Toner said, "This is a management decision. It is a difficult one to reach, but it is one we are compelled to reach at this time."

While four coaches were leaving their jobs, another seemed to be on his way out — Missouri's Al Onofrio. Missouri Athletic Director Mel Sheehan said Monday that arrangements were being made to discuss the fate of the football staff.

Onofrio's future was in doubt Saturday after the Tigers were upset 41-14 by Kansas, completing a bizarre 6-5 season that included upset victories over Nebraska, Ohio State and Southern Cal.

Gullett departure theories offered by former teammates

CINCINNATI (AP) — His former compatriots on the Cincinnati pitching staff have advanced several theories — besides the obvious ones — for Don Gullett having left the world championship Reds.

Gullett played out his option and was signed last week to a six year, multi-million dollar contract with the New York Yankees.

Manager Sparky Anderson admitted he was disappointed in the decision. Pitching coach Larry Shepard added he felt the same way.

"But I'm glad he's able to get what amounts to his life," Shepard added. "You've got to think of your family. The most I ever got for one season — in Class AAA — was $4,500. Now he'll get that much just for lacing his shoes."

Shepard was incredulous about the length of Gullett's contract. The Reds had refused to consider Gullett's long-term contract requests. Shepard pointed out that a pitcher could receive an injury at any time which could end his career.

"That's why teams sign so many pitchers," he said. "But pitching is more than a physical thing. I think Don is a great pitcher, but I think he was great because he was with the Reds. He had great defense behind him, he had great hitting. He had a great bullpen to come in and save games for him."

Pitcher Jack Billingham suggested that perhaps part of the reason Gullett left was that he is seeking a place where he will be appreciated.

DON GULLETT

"Don is a very proud person," Billingham said. "He felt he was a super pitcher. He is a good pitcher. But I think he felt he's never gotten the credit."

"I know sometimes, I'd have an 8-1 lead in the sixth inning and I'd walk a couple guys. They'd be hollering from the dugout, 'Throw strikes, throw strikes.' And then you'd give up a double and a home run and they'd say, 'How can you give in to that guy?' And you'd be gone. I've talked to Don and I know that upset him."

And who are "they?" "People," Billingham said, "who have an opportunity to walk out to the mound and pull you."

There is also what Fred Norman refers to as the "Kapstein factor," referring to Gullett's agent Jerry Kapstein.

"He might have gotten influenced by Jerry," Norman said. "Jerry's very strong in his field, you know."

Joe Wilhoit, a 1919 Wichita, Kan., outfielder in the Western League, hit safely in 69 straight games.

The Point After

By MARK REA

High school sports are now going the way of professional sports. Pro seasons overlap so the fans can have non-stop sports throughout the year.

Now, with Miami Trace's big season on the gridiron a little more than a week in everyone's memory, the South Central Ohio League turns its thoughts to basketball.

As the Panthers have dominated football the past few seasons, Circleville has two consecutive cage crowns to their credit.

Two years ago, the Tigers went undefeated in 22 games before being stopped in the district tournament by another SCOL team, Greenfield McClain.

The Highland County Tigers were the cinderella club that year, losing to a team that eventually won the state tournament.

Last season, the Pickaway County Tigers were deprived of a second gold basketball when their only loss came at the hands of Madison Plains.

With this year's prospects, don't look for Circleville to win a third straight title.

This year, the SCOL cage teams may have the best balance they have ever had. All seven teams have a chance at the crown. However, some have better chances than others.

MIAMI TRACE

Miami Trace brings their talent off the football field inside to the gym. The Panthers figure to start four players who were vital cogs in the grid team.

Dan Gifford, Art Schlichter, Bill Hanners, and Glen Cobb are the players trading shoulder pads for knee pads. Senior Brant Dunn should be the fifth starter for Trace.

With Schlichter and Dunn at guard, Hanners and Gifford at forward, and Cobb in the middle, Trace has an excellent chance to add a cage crown to their already overflowing trophy case.

WASHINGTON C.H.

The Blue Lions field a depleted varsity squad with only one full-time starter returning. Junior John Denen anchors the Lion attack, both on offense and defense.

Seniors Dee Foster and Sam McClendon, part-time starters in the 1975-76 season, are tabbed for full time roles this season at either guard or forward.

Also helping out the Court House cage hopes is the core of the league winning reserve squad from last season.

Seniors Tom Dean and Mark Burke, along with junior Terry Wilson figure to see a lot of varsity action.

Head coach Gary Shaffer heads into his eighth year of Washington C.H. coaching, making him the dean of SCOL coaches along with Sam Snyder of Greenfield McClain.

GREENFIELD MCCLAIN

Snyder's Tigers will be picked for the basement but they have the potential to surprise a lot of people.

As of this moment, they are leading the league by virtue of their 61-47 win over Paint Valley last Saturday.

Seniors Chuck Cole and Eric Dunson looked impressive for McClain, scoring 22 and 17 points, respectively.

Other starters should include seniors Bill Legge, Mark Current, and Jim Everhart.

Snyder, like Shaffer, begins his eighth year in Greenfield after spending three years there as reserve mentor.

WILMINGTON

Wilmington has the distinction of having everybody back this season. . . that is, except the coach.

The Hurricane has five players that are accustomed to varsity starting roles. Seniors Tony Berlin, Steve Harte, Greg Williams, Steve Williams, and junior Gary Williams make Wilmington's cage hopes look very promising.

And if Wilmington sounds like a breeding ground for basketball players named Williams, the Hurricane has an excellent prospect in sophomore Bob Williams who may start this year also.

Wilmington was disappointing last season, playing at around .500 all season. This season they have a new coach, Jim Staley, and he could make a big difference.

CIRCLEVILLE

Circleville cannot afford to rest on the laurels of past seasons. The Tigers were murdered by graduation, losing four of their starters and more than half of their entire varsity squad.

The lone returnee is Frank Merrill, who suffered a lot battering this fall on the gridiron which may or may not affect his play on the hardwood.

He should be joined by seniors Brian Fath and Tom McGuire while seniors Rusty Holbrook, Eric Pontius, and Tim Milstead figure to back them up.

Head coach Jim Bailey won the SCOL crown last year as a rookie coach but should have a few more problems in his sophomore year.

MADISON PLAINS

Madison Plains has been anxiously awaiting basketball season. The Eagles didn't have much to cheer about this fall, but they boast a fine cage team with the potential to make a strong showing in the league.

Three starters return this winter. Seniors Pete Sullivan, Doug Sifrit, and Gary Self, who is 6-foot-6, present big threats for Plains.

Last year, they were unbeatable at home. Washington C.H. was the only team to master their home court wizardry in the first game of the season. They dealt Circleville their only league loss last year at the Plains gym.

Coach Steve Stewart begins his third season at the Plains reins with a very real chance at the SCOL lead.

HILLSBORO

Hillsboro has a wealth of talent back this year with four starters in addition to their sixth man from last year.

Big scoring Tim Fuller is flanked by fellow seniors Gary Larimer, Randy Sanders, Gary Coffman, and Tim Sharkey as the Indian basketball hopes seem to be on the rise.

Second-year head coach Bill Hogan looks capable of turning around last year's dismal record and has big plans for the Hillsboro five.

There is no doubt that the SCOL teams have a lot of balance this season. It is difficult to pick above the other in the standings. But, after picking 85 per cent of the games correctly in football, I can't resist trying basketball. Therefore, here's how I pick the teams to finish in the SCOL:

1. Miami Trace
2. Wilmington
3. Circleville
4. Madison Plains
5. Washington C.H.
6. Hillsboro
7. Greenfield McClain

The difficulty lies in picking the bottom five teams because with their talent, the top two could be joined by any or all of the bottom teams.

Trace and Wilmington are picked first because of their obvious strengths. The last five are based on the past merits of their returnees and their schedules. Some teams may surprise, but the balance should keep everything evenly matched.

Scoring should take an early trend with steady scorers constantly turning in good games. Look for Fuller, Denen, Schlichter, Self, Gary Williams, and Cole to top the league's scoring department during the season.

Just don't look for anyone to make a shambles of the basketball teams the way Miami Trace did to the football teams. It may be the middle of next February before we really know who the winner will be.

end ever, are The Associated Press' Ohio Central District Players of the Year in Class AAA high school football.

O'Cain, 5-foot-10 and 168 pounds, has piled up 1,367 yards rushing this season for the Lions, third ranked in the state and facing a championship assignment Friday night against No. 1 Cincinnati Moeller.

His coach, Bob Starr, rates the 6-2, 205-pound Gunn, a two-way senior, as the greatest end in the school's history, even better than Pat Curto and Steve Groves. Curto played at Ohio State and Groves at Ohio University.

Gunn caught 16 passes for 281 yards and six touchdowns and, on defense, came up with four interceptions.

Bob Fearing, turning around Columbus Brookhaven's sagging program, earned Central District Class AAA Coach of the Year laurels.

Fearing produced a 7-2 record this fall, the Bearcats' first winning season since 1965. Brookhaven lost all nine of its games in 1975.

In Class AA, Coach Tim Kidwell of Johnstown, Columbus Ready two-way back John Cacchio and Pickerington lineman Jack Neal won the top area laurels in a vote by a district panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

WCH fall stars honored at banquet

Washington Senior High School paid its final tribute to their seniors of the fall sports at a banquet held Monday night.

In all 103 letters were passed out to team members of volleyball, golf, and football and also to the various managers, trainers, and statisticians.

After a buffet dinner was served, athletic director Jon Creamer and assistant athletic director Donova Stickley introduced special guests to the almost 300 persons seated in the WSHS cafeteria.

Dr. Robert Heiny talked briefly about the Blue Lion Athletic Boosters Club and then made a drawing for $200 as the climax to the club's contest.

The money was won by Wendell Shaw, 319 Forest St., and Robyn Heiny, 716 Park Dr.

Golf head coach Rick Crooks related to the audience his experiences with the golf team this season and then passed out four certificates of participation and six varsity letters.

John Moore, a junior, took top honors

with his third year award and a trophy for lowest stroke average for the team.

Moore was also named to the SCOL's top golf team this season and sported the second lowest stroke average in the league.

Volleyball team awards were passed out by head coach Cindy Carper, giving out 14 letters.

Becky and Debbie Wheat both received their second-year award in addition to being named to the All-SCOL volleyball team. Mindy Smith garnered her second-year award also and took home a trophy for most points scored in the season.

Next, football awards were passed out. Freshman coach Don Gibbs and assistant coaches Steve Ross and Dale Lynch gave out awards to the underclassmen.

Head football coach Paul Ondrus then gave the seniors their letters with a small football biography about each. Fifteen seniors were put in the football spotlight one last time to culminate many years in Blue Lion football.

Griffin, Clark Bengal punch

CINCINNATI (AP) — The development of the one-two punch of running backs Archie Griffin and Boobie Clark could be just the weapons the Cincinnati Bengals need for the showdown here Sunday with the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Griffin ran for 139 yards last Sunday and Clark piled up 91 yards in Cincinnati's squaker over the Kansas City Chiefs, 27-24 last Sunday.

The Bengals have been beaten four straight times by the steelers although they continue to lead the Central Division of the American Conference of the National Football League.

Cincinnati's record is 9-2 but the two-time Super Bowl champion Steelers have won six straight games after dropping four of their first five and Pittsburgh remains in second place. The earlier meeting in Pittsburgh lauched the current Steelers winning spre.

Griffin, the two-time Heisman Trophy winner from Ohio State, broke a 77 yard touchdown run on the first play from scrimmage against the Chiefs. Coach Bill Johnson admitted the Bengals were looking past the Chiefs toward this week's game with the Steelers and had to come from behind to snare Kansas City.

Cesar Geronimo inks two-year contract

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cesar Geronimo, who had his finest season in 1976, has signed a two-year contract with the Cincinnati Reds.

Dick Wagner, executive vice president, announced Monday the agreement which covers the 1977 and 1978 baseball seasons.

The bidding:
South 1♠ Pass North 1NT Pass East 4♣

Opening lead — queen of hearts.

The most common form of defense against a suit contract is to keep leading a suit where declarer is short, and in that way force him to use up his trumps.

Take this deal where South went down one as a result of East-West's forcing tactics. West led the queen of hearts and East took dummy's king with the ace. East returned a heart.

South ruffed and led the king of trumps, won by East with the ace. East led another heart, forcing declarer to ruff again and reducing his trump holding to the Q-J-10 while East still had the 8-6-3.

Declarer drew East's trumps and played a low club to dummy's jack, but had to go down when East took the ace and returned his last heart to partner's jack. South won the rest of the tricks with his high diamonds and clubs.

Declarer would have made the contract had he been somewhat more careful. West's queen of hearts lead marked him with the jack, and South therefore should have played the heart deuce from dummy, not the king.

This play would have stymied the defense. The queen would win the trick, but West could not then continue the suit without establishing a heart trick in dummy, whether he led the jack or a low heart.

Declarer would ruff either return, but with a heart winner now established in dummy, he would not have to ruff the next heart lead by East. So, by combating the trump-shortening process, South would have lost only a spade, a heart and a club.

Declarer had a method of play handy to withstand the assault upon his trumps. All he had to do was make use of it.

Salamander protected

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (AP) — "Santa Cruz Sally" is shy, a heavy eater, a little slow afoot and has long toes — but this coastal county loves her.

Sally, as environmentalists have come to call her, is the endangered Santa Cruz longtoed salamander. The Board of Supervisors is seeking to protect her by creating an "SP" — salamander protection — district around the only two spots on earth she calls home.

They are a few miles apart in Santa Cruz County, at Endicott Pond near Watsonville and Valencia Lagoon, south of here off Highway 1.

The supervisors voted to adopt the "SP" district on Aug. 10, and they are to meet Tuesday to give it final approval.

The zoning law change aimed at saving the last 10,000 of the lizard-like creatures hardly endeared "Sally" to contractors.

In the salamander protection districts, all new curbs and gutters must be rounded, building sites must be passable for wriggling amphibians, grading of Sally's marshy home must be minimized, and continuous retaining walls longer than 100 feet must have gently sloped salamander ramps.

Joan Baez plans trip to Belfast

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Folksinger Joan Baez says she's going to Belfast to help try to end the violence in Northern Ireland.

"It's a cause that's tailor-made for beliefs I've had since I was 9 or 10 years old," the 34-year-old pacifist told a news conference Monday. "I expect to have a very good time there and to be very frightened."

Miss Baez said she will leave today for two weeks of rallies and marching at the invitation of the Peace People of Ireland, a nonviolent movement organized by Protestant and Catholic women.

In Focus

by Charlie Pensyl

What do you do with the photographs you make? Do you shoot color prints and then stuff them in a drawer? In an album? Or maybe you shoot slides and leave them in the little yellow box they came back in. Maybe you have those slides arranged into interesting sequences and stored in well-labeled Carousel trays ready to show at the drop of a hat. And, if you're really hip, you have filed those good slides that you didn't use in your slide shows in those little clips from the Kodak Slide Clip Set.

You know, a sequence of prints in an album can tell the story just like the sequence of slides in the slide tray, and the clever photographer, being aware of this fact, can put together an album or slide show that is a real joy to view. Presented in another way those same slides can be pretty dull.

The quality of the prints or slides is another factor in how well your photographic efforts are received by your friends. As we have stated so often, Kodak film should always be processed by a Kodak lab. And you can tell that it's processed by Kodak because it says on the slide mount and on the back of the print, PROCESSED BY KODAK. And just because the print has printed on the back "Kodak Paper" doesn't mean that it is processed by Kodak. It merely indicates that the lab that printed the pix used paper manufactured by Kodak. There's a difference. So improve your efforts by insisting on Kodak Processing.

Speaking of Your Health...

No Need to Fear Surgery at 71

I'm in remarkably good health for a man of 71 years of age. I would feel somewhat ridiculous if I discussed this problem with my doctor. I have a recurring fear that if I ever needed surgery it would be deadly at my age. — Mr. N. T., Ken.

Dr. Mr. T.: I truly hope that I can remove your anxiety. Before I do I would like to emphasize to you and to my other readers that there should be no problem that could be considered "ridiculous" by doctors.

The remarkable advances in anesthesia, the use of pre-operative antibiotics, and the constant monitoring of the heart and lungs with electronic devices during surgery makes an operation safe at almost any age.

Intensive care units and recovery rooms have added enormously to the survival rates, even under the most delicate circumstances.

I do hope that you never need an operation. I hope, too, that you will eliminate the fears that distress you unnecessarily.

Is ringworm a real infection or is it a descriptive term? — Miss M. M., Wash.

Dear Miss M.: Ringworm is a distinct skin disease caused by a fungus. There are a number of different types of ringworm, usually named after the area of the body that is involved. The scalp, groin, feet, beard and nails can be affected.

This condition is definitely contagious. Therefore, precautions in gyms and swimming pools must be carefully established. There are now some excellent drugs, applied locally, and others taken by mouth, which can control and cure ringworm.

When I eat shrimp or clams I break out in hives. I love them. Is there any way that I can be made less allergic to them? — Mr. F. B. G., Calif.

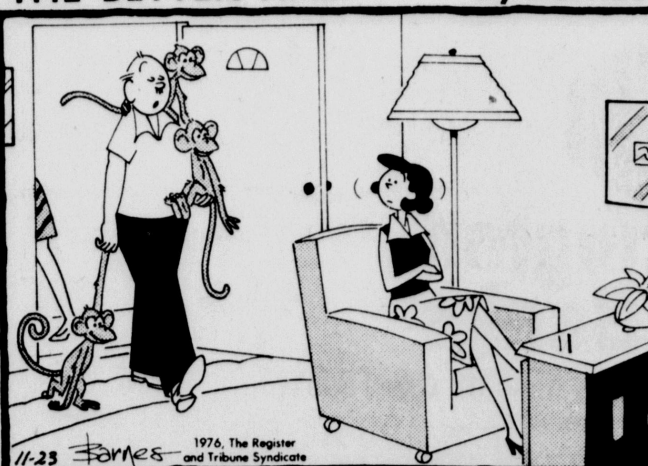

Dear Mr. G.: I, too, love them and feel sorry for anyone who is allergic to these tasty tidbits.

I doubt that there is any way of desensitizing you. Yet consultation with a specialist in allergy may reveal some way that can minimize the after-effects of such gustatorial indulgence.

Officers investigate several mishaps

Driverless auto hits two objects

A driverless automobile traveled across U.S. 22-E Monday and struck two stationary objects, Fayette County sheriff's deputies reported.

A car belonging to Ronald W. Babbs, 38, of Lancaster, was parked unattended with its motor running in front of the Sunoco Truck Stop, 1659 U.S. 22-E. The transmission reportedly slipped into reverse gear, and the car backed across a parking area, southward, and into a ditch on the north side of U.S. 22-E.

During its course of travel, the car struck a telephone junction box and a guardrail post. The car was slightly damaged in the 7:50 a.m. Monday accident.

Traveling east on the Bloomingburg-New Holland Road, a car driven by Robbie L. Vorhees, 18, of Jeffersonville, skidded on ice, sheriff's deputies said, and proceeded into a ditch on the right side of the road, just east of U.S. 35.

The car struck three rods of fence belonging to Alfred Carr, 2649 Bloomingburg-New Holland Road, at 7:15 a.m. Monday. The vehicle was slightly damaged.

A car driven by Richard A. Baughn, 16, of 2936 Palmer Road, was southbound on Ohio 41 when it went off the left side of the road, just north of U.S. 35, and struck a section of fence belonging to Emmett K. Shaper, 1002 Golfview Drive. The 7:10 a.m. Monday accident resulted in moderate damage to the automobile.

Three rods of fence belonging to Bill Thompson, 688 Wildwood Road, were damaged when struck by a car driven by Cindy S. Woods, 17, of Jeffersonville, at 7:45 a.m. Monday.

Sheriff's deputies said Miss Woods was southbound on the Prairie Road when she lost control of her car just south of the Parrott-Station Road and it went off the right side of the road. The car was moderately damaged.

Washington C.H. police officers investigated four Monday accidents.

8:38 a.m.—A car driven by Gladys A. Kirk, 30, of 4538 U.S. 62-S, was eastbound on Leesburg Avenue when it reportedly failed to slow in time and struck the rear of a truck ahead which was attempting to turn left into the Frisch's restaurant parking lot, Clinton Avenue.

The truck was driven by George D. Smith, 43, of Greenfield, and it incurred slight damage. Ms. Kirk was charged with failing to maintain an assured clear distance ahead. Her car was moderately damaged.

8:51 a.m.—Westbound on the inside lane of W. Court Street, a car driven by Carla Y. Dewitt Burns, 28, of Frankfort, was attempting to turn into the Red Head service station when it collided with a car proceeding east on Court Street.

The second car was driven by Arthur J. Boyles, 35, of Columbus, and it was severely damaged in the mishap. Ms. Burns was charged with making an improper left turn, and her car was moderately damaged.

9:55 a.m.—Attempting to cross Columbus Avenue from Delaware Street, a car driven by Otis Locey Jr., 46, of Fountain Ave., reported struck a car driven by Freddie A. Everman, 28, of Sabina, which was eastbound on Columbus Avenue. Everman's car was severely damaged. The Locey car was moderately damaged, and he was charged with failing to yield to an oncoming vehicle.

7:56 p.m.—A car driven by Frank Merritt, 43, of New Holland, was westbound on Washington Avenue, stopped in traffic at the Elm Street intersection.

Starting forward, Merritt's car reportedly struck a car ahead which was driven by Rickie E. Jester, 29, of 1023 Broadway St. Both cars were moderately damaged and Merritt was charged with starting without safety.

Thanksgiving observance held by Kiwanis Club

A special Thanksgiving observance was held at the regular weekly meeting of the Washington C.H. Kiwanis Club Monday night in the Terrace Lounge.

The Rev. Richard Ward was the speaker for the program arranged by Norman Armbrust. Rev. Ward attended a seminary in Dayton and has served nine different churches during his 40 years of ministerial work.

Rev. Ward spoke to the club on the many things one should be thankful for, but questioned whether all the things are recognized. He said Thanksgiving also means sharing and reflected that on any particular day we should ask how much we are sharing and how much the world really cares. He concluded the program with prayer after reading a story by Richard Hunter.

Several guests were present as part of the club's participation in "Farm and City Week." Guests were John Burr, Allen Hayes, Richard Gleadell, Wayne Clark, James Perrill, Kenneth Payton, Richard Craig, John Peterson, Ed Thompson and J.W. (Boots) Sears.

The Teen Talent Show was discussed and club president Tom Mossbarger reminded members of the annual family Christmas party scheduled for December 13 in the First Presbyterian Church.

Next week's meeting has been changed and a board meeting will be held in the First Presbyterian Church at the regular time.

Theft of chairs checked

A reported larceny of seven recliner chairs from a truck parked at a county truck stop was investigated Monday by Fayette County sheriff's deputies.

The chairs were reportedly stolen from the trailer portion of the tractor trailer rig belonging to the Dumas Brothers Manufacturing Co., of Jackson, Ala. Sheriff's deputies said the objects were taken sometime between last Thursday and Monday, while the truck was parked on the Sohio

Stop 35 truck stop parking lot, U.S. 35 and I-71.

Washington C.H. police officers reported that an alleged theft of mail from a residential mailbox took place sometime Sunday.

A check and various other unknown pieces of mail were reportedly taken from a mailbox belonging to Dorothy Mahoney, 724 Yeoman St., which was located in front of her residence.

The names of two majorettes in the Community Education drill team story in Monday's edition of the Record-Herald were misspelled. The names should have been Lisa Slager, head majorette, and Lori Slager, front row member.

A car driven by Thelma Clay, 41, of 1046 Ohio 41-S, did not strike a parked car belonging to Anna L. Hayslip 34, of 6206 Palmer Road, as was reported in Monday's edition of the Record-Herald. The incident, reported as a result of a slight mix-up on the sheriff's report, should have designated Ms. Hayslip as the driver of the car and Ms. Clay as the owner of the parked car.

A cold westerly flow of air responsible for Ohio's chilling temperatures and scattered flurries continued to grip the state today.

More scattered flurries were to drift across the north and northeast portion of the state, but no significant snowfall was expected.

The flurries are expected to end completely tonight as winds become lighter and more southwesterly.

Temperatures will remain rather cold through Wednesday with daytime highs mostly in the 30s and lows tonight ranging from the mid teens to the mid 20s.

Simons named rail chief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Nat Simons, 50, of Columbus, has been named executive director of the newly created Ohio Rail Transportation Authority, at a salary of $29,500 a year.

He now is policy analyst in the transportation department.

Also approved Monday at a special meeting of the five-member authority was the employment of Carl E. Freshour as assistant director.

Freshour, who has been serving as acting director, will have his salary fixed at a later meeting, Chairman Paul T. Zellers said.

The legislature created the authority last year to research rail transportation needs in Ohio, and to make recommendations for an Ohio rail plan.

The Ohio Swiss Festival is held at Sugar Creek in late September.

Over half of prep seniors tried drug

'Pot' use seen heavy

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than half of the Bicentennial class of high school seniors tried marijuana and three out of 10 were users at graduation time, according to government surveys. The National Institute on Drug Abuse surveyed 17,000 high school seniors in 130 schools last spring and found that 53 per cent had tried marijuana, a 5 per cent increase over the class of 1975. The survey, released today, said 32 per cent regarded themselves as current marijuana users.

An identical 53 per cent of persons aged 18 to 25 had tried marijuana, according to another institute survey, and 25 per cent were current users. It showed 22 per cent of 12-to-17-year-olds had experimented with marijuana and 15 per cent were regular or occasional users.

Although cigarettes and alcohol were used more frequently than marijuana by young adults, 57 per cent of high school seniors thought there was a serious health risk for cigarettes while only 40 per cent felt the same way about marijuana.

The findings indicated the use of LSD has remained virtually constant the last four years, and that abuse of heroin and psychotherapeutic drugs has been unchanged the last two years.

The rate of cocaine use was the same this year as in 1975.

Dr. Robert L. DuPont, the institute's director, said comparison of the surveys show "an apparent stabilization in drug use and the attitudes toward drugs in general."

"The public, including youth, clearly recognizes the addictive effects of tobacco and alcohol and has very negative attitudes toward the use of all illicit drugs except marijuana," he said.

"Although drug abuse continues to be widespread in every region of the country, we are seeing some slight downward trends for amphetamines, LSD and barbiturates. Marijuana is the only drug showing a definite upward trend."

Two other government-sponsored surveys released at the same time showed that drug abuse costs the nation between $8.4 billion and $12.2 billion a year, more than tobacco smoking, but less than alcoholism.

More than 60 per cent of the cost of drug abuse was attributed to heroin abuse. The median costs of $10.3 billion in fiscal 1975 included medical, judicial, law enforcement, criminal and employment expenses and debts. The study estimated that tobacco use costs $6.7 billion and alcohol and alcoholism cost $32 billion.

Council meets Wednesday

Third readings slated on two city measures

Two ordinances will be placed on the third and final readings Wednesday night at the regularly scheduled meeting of the Washington C.H. City Council.

One of the ordinances would amend the city's official zoning map to change land owned by Harris D. Willis from R-1 (residential) to B-3 (general business).

The land, 1.914 acres, is located in the Willis Grove Second Addition.

Before the ordinance was placed on second reading at council's last meeting it was amended to restrict the B-3 zoning.

Now, the ordinance reads that no commercial building over 20 feet in height may be constructed on the property, no warehouse or manufacturing building may be built within 200 feet of a residential zone, and no office building may be built within 100 feet of a residential zone.

The other ordinance up for final approval is the adopting of an Affirmative Action Program for the city. The ordinance, which is more or less a formality, insures that the city government will not discriminate against persons because of color, race, religion, national origin or age.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Fraternal Order of Police building at 470 N. Fayette St.

Gasoline controls could be ended before inauguration

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ford administration, approaching its final days in office, will try to end controls on the price of gasoline, contending the move will have no immediate impact for motorists.

Federal Energy Administrator Frank G. Zarb said, "our preliminary evidence indicates there will be no adverse effect on price or supply" of gasoline and decontrol would "restore some measure of competition back into the system."

A spokesman for the FEA said Monday, "There probably would be no effect at the gasoline pump. It's a very competitive market and the oil companies now are charging less than they could under the controls."

The proposal, however, may cause resentment among Democrats in Congress who feel energy decisions should be left to the new administration of President-elect Jimmy Carter.

Either the Senate or House could block decontrol by a resolution opposing it. Democrats control both houses by margins of roughly 2 to 1.

A spokesman for the FEA said that public hearings would be held on the proposal in December before it is formally submitted to Congress when the recess ends on Jan. 4.

Congress would have 15 days to block any effort to remove the controls. If Congress fails to act, the ceilings would be lifted.

The FEA spokesman said the administration favors decontrol because "we're interested in less regulation. Let the marketplace control it."

He said the administration feels that the controls, which were installed to prevent price gouging after the Arab oil embargo in 1973, are no longer needed.

The American Automobile Association reported Monday that the price of regular gasoline is averaging about 61.5 cents per gallon, premium gasoline 65.8 cents per gallon and unleaded 63.8 cents. Generally, the prices at the pump have been a few cents below the maximums permitted under the Federal controls.

Under the current law, gasoline marketers and refiners cannot raise prices except to pass along to customers actual increases in crude oil or other petroleum costs on a dollar-for-dollar basis.

The law permits the president to remove the controls, unless Congress opposes it, if he believes that competition in the market would "provide adequate protection for the consumer."

Angola wins U.N. seat

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Angola's Marxist regime is entering the United Nations following withdrawal of the American veto that blocked the new African nation five months ago.

Ambassador William W. Scranton told the Security Council that the United States decided not to veto Angola's application for membership again Monday "out of respect for the sentiments expressed by our African friends."

However, he said the United States was abstaining from the council vote on the Angolan application because of the continuing presence in the country of large "Cuban occupation forces."

U.S. diplomats said Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger changed course in the hope that the Angolans would influence black Rhodesian leaders to be more amenable to compromise at the Geneva negotiations to arrange the transition to black majority rule in Rhodesia. Angola is one of the five so-called "front-line" black African states that are believed to have influence with the black Rhodesians.

The council voted 13-0 to recommend that the General Assembly vote the former Portuguese colony into the world organization. Assembly approval of the recommendation is certain.

China did not participate in the vote to express its disapproval of Soviet involvement in Angola.

New rate takes effect Saturday

Water prices going up

The price of water is going up. Little blue cards bearing the bad news are accompanying the water bills of area residents this month.

The Ohio Water Service Co. has received authorization to increase the water rates charged in the Washington C.H. service territory by the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio (PUCO).

The local water service company requested an increase in early 1975. When that application was submitted, a request to place part of the proposed increase into effect on an emergency basis was approved by the PUCO.

Area residents met that emergency increase in September of last year. The new, permanent rate increase will go into effect Saturday, although the high rates won't be reflected until the January billing.

The water company's rates had remained unchanged for nearly 15 years until last year's emergency rate increase. Meanwhile, the cost of supplying water to the Washington C.H. area has been going up, company officials said.

After a hearing in 1975 concerning the rate increase the PUCO reported that the local company was faced with "extraordinary circumstances" and "a pressing need for relief."

Residents who use less than 200 cubic feet of water per month will feel the increase the least. All usage up to that amount is billed the monthly minimum charge which is $3.26 and will be $4.

Consumers of more than the 200 cubic feet minimum charge will be harder hit. Usage from 200 to 1,800 cubic feet per month will increase from 74 cents to $1.35 per 100 cubic feet.

In other words, if a resident's water bill is presently $6 — 570 cubic feet per month which will appear as 57 on the water bill received in the mail — it will be $9 after the increase.

The city sewer bill which follows residents water bills each month will not be affected by the increase. Sewer bills are determined in the amount of water used per household and water rates are not involved in figuring sewer rates.

Pam Doyle crowned as Miss Snow Queen

Parade royalty selected

Pam Doyle, a senior at Miami Trace High School, will reign over the Washington C.H. Christmas parade Dec. 4.

Miss Doyle, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Doyle, 64 S. Main St., New Holland, was crowned the 1976 Snow Queen Monday night at the final judging in the Washington C.H. Middle School cafeteria. She was one of six finalist vying for the annual honor of riding on the parade's royalty float.

The other five finalists, Cindy Dennis, Gale Fitzpatrick, Lana Hess, Alisa Hughes and Karen Kiger, were among the 45 girls entered in the queen contest for high school students.

Each finalist responded to one question at Monday's program. Miss Doyle was selected the winner by judges Dave Loudner, Roshell Thomas, and Robert Harper.

Mrs. John Marcum, general chairman of the program, crowned the queen with a silver tiara.

Flanking Miss Doyle on the royalty float will be Laurie Merritt and Jackie Selig. The two girls were crowned Miss Snow Princess and Little Miss Snow Princess during Monday's program.

Miss Merritt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Merritt, 5145 U.S. 62-S, was selected over five other finalists for the Miss Snow Princess crown. The other five finalists were Diana Hughes, Crystal Lewis, Kelly Reeves, Lori Wilson and Shelia Terry.

The finalists were selected on the basis of their ideas about what the Christmas parade offers the community. The winner was selected after each of the finalists answered a question Monday night.

Miss Selig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Selig, 683 Comfort Lane, gave the winning response to the judges' question in the Little Miss Snow Princess finals. The other five finalists were Amy Webb, Ginger Finney, Kelly Hinchee, Kendra Croy, and Dawn Bennington.

Miss Merritt is a seventh grade student at Eber Junior High School and Miss Selig is a kindergarten pupil at Belle-Aire Elementary School.

The queen and the two princesses shared more than $100 in prizes donated by area merchants.

Andy Anderson was the master of ceremonies for Monday's program that is sponsored annually by the Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce.

Andre Malraux dies

PARIS (AP) — Andre Malraux, the novelist, art historian, philosopher and Gaullist cabinet minister, died today, the French news agency Agence France Presse reported. He was 75.

Malraux entered the Creteil Hospital last Tuesday for treatment of a lung congestion. He developed a blood clot in a lung Sunday night and grew steadily worse. His doctor reported Monday that his condition was hopeless.

Malraux was one of the 20th century's most brilliant men of letters, but he was also a man of action — an explorer, archeologist, adventurer, early Communist revolutionary, a much-decorated World War II hero and a close friend and cabinet minister of President Charles De Gaulle.

His life was full of tragedy. His wealthy father committed suicide and family legend claims his grandfather did the same. His two half-brothers were killed during World War II. His wartime mistress, Josette Clotis, was killed in a train crash as France was being liberated. Their two sons died together in 1961 when their speeding sports car smashed into a tree in Central France.

A colonel in the French Resistance, Malraux faced a German execution squad in 1944. It was a cruel hoax, but the experience inspired some of his deepest insight into a theme that always haunted him: man's confrontation with death.

Malraux organized a bomber squadron for the Republican side in the Spanish civil war and flew 65 combat missions before being wounded. That war produced "L'Esprit," of "Man's Hope," the companion piece to "Man's Fate" and a vision of totalitarianism in action.

At the outbreak of World War II, he became an enlisted man in the French armored forces which also produced De Gaulle.

Carter continues Washington meets

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect Jimmy Carter, after meeting with President Ford, is planning discussions with leaders of Congress.

Carter's second day of meetings on his first trip here since the election were on Capitol Hill today, but spokesmen for legislators he planned to see said they were unsure about discussion topics.

Carter spent 75 minutes with President Ford on Monday and said afterwards: "There cannot have been a better demonstration of unity and friendship and goodwill than has been shown to me by President Ford since the election."

"The transition will be one which will be conducive to peace in our own nation and peace around the world," Carter said after an Oval Office conference on the transition to a Carter administration.

Carter, staying at Blair House, the government guest house across Pennsylvania Avenue from the White House, also met with several members of Ford's Cabinet.

At the Capitol on Monday there was some mystery about what Carter planned to discuss at meetings he requested with House and Senate committee chairmen, the House International Relations Committee, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and with GOP congressional leaders.

Vice President-elect Walter F. Mondale was to join in the meetings.

The congressmen are among those whose support Carter will need if he hopes to assure success for his legislative program.

A Democratic staff member said there was no agenda for the session with House committee chairmen, but that Carter probably would discuss government reorganization, foreign policy and economic problems.

Carter's press secretary, Jody Powell, said Monday night the meetings were requested by Carter to make contact "with the people on the Hill, giving them a chance to get to know" the incoming president.

Powell said earlier that Carter wanted to talk with the foreign affairs panels to advance his plans for a bipartisan foreign policy in which Congress would play a greater role. After their meeting, Ford and Carter walked on the lawn and Ford told reporters "the transition is working smoothly."

"It has been a real pleasure and a privilege for Mrs. Ford and myself to have Gov. Carter and Mrs. Carter as our guests," he said.

While the President and President-elect talked, Ford's wife, Betty, showed Carter's wife, Rosalynn, around the White House.

Earlier, Mrs. Carter visited the principal of Stevens School, the Washington public school that nine-year-old Amy Carter might attend.

Carter thanked Ford "for the gracious way in which he has welcomed me to meet with his heads of departments to teach me about the future responsibilities which I will assume."

Powell said Carter described the meeting as "a very substantive discussion." Powell said "a good part of the time" was spent on foreign affairs.

Missouri man stricken by swine flu, tests confirm

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A Missouri man who had not received a swine flu inoculation has recovered from the first confirmed case of the disease since a Fort Dix, N.J., soldier died of it nine months ago, officials say.

Federal officials who have been directing the nationwide swine flu immunization drive said there was no reason to fear the isolated case signaled an epidemic.

The man was identified Monday by the Missouri Health Division. Dr. H. Denny Donnell, director of its medical section, said he was "a young man in his 30s in western Missouri, in Lafayette County."

"He has recovered from his illness," Donnell said, adding that the man missed work for several days but was not hospitalized.

He said the man contracted a "flu-like illness" in mid-October and said blood studies confirmed the disease as swine flu. He said the man had not been immunized against swine flu then, but has since had a shot.

"We are in the process of further investigation to attempt to determine the origin, if possible, and the extent and spread, if any, from his illness," Donnell said.

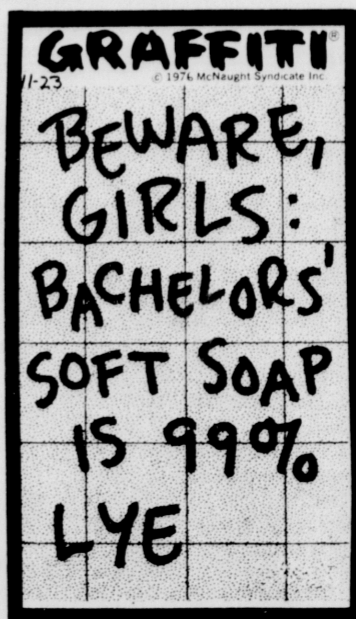

In Atlanta, David Sencer of the federal Center for Disease Control said there was no reason for public alarm.

"We've had cases like this before where people have had contact with pigs, and we don't get all excited about it," he said.

Blood samples have been taken from about 20 persons in the community where the man with the swine flu lives, Donnell said. He said none has shown any signs of the illness.

More than 20 million Americans have been inoculated against swine flu, says the U.S. Public Health Service. Officials have said the program is "gaining momentum," but concern has been expressed about a lag in urban areas.

The program got off to a rocky start soon after it started this fall, with reports of deaths among elderly recipients causing several states to stop giving shots temporarily. Officials concluded the shots were not a factor in causing the deaths.

State faces nursing home fund crisis

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Because the state plan for assisting nursing homes has apparently been judged unacceptable, the Ohio Department of Public Welfare may owe the federal government $60 million, the State Controlling Board has learned.

"We've received indications that they will not approve the state plan for reimbursement" of nursing homes,

William Stone, welfare department fiscal officer, told the board. The $60 million includes money already paid to the state and future federal reimbursements that would be cut off, Stone said.

Puzzled legislators on the control board decided to attempt to set up a meeting with Clyde V. Downing, regional commissioner of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, based in Chicago.

In other action, board members voted to approve purchase of some 200 acres of land from four different owners for addition to Malabar State Park near Mansfield.

Under temporary state law, the welfare department has permitted nursing homes a "profit allowance" over and above their actual cost of operation. The plan applied to homes which receive state financial assistance.

When he vetoed a daily $150 per patient nursing home profit allowance incorporated in a Medicaid reform bill last month, Gov. James A. Rhodes cited a statement by Downing that the state formula conflicted with federal regulations. Rhodes' veto was overridden by the legislature on Nov. 9.

The board, controlled by Democrats, deferred a request by the Ohio welfare agency to change the formula and decided to arrange a meeting with the federal official sometime next week.

"So we're spending state bucks that are not going to be reimbursed as contemplated," concluded control board president Robert Howarth. "We're really in a damned if we do, damned if we don't position."

"I'm going to call this no more than a threat," added House Finance Chairman Myrd H. Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville. "You are asking the control board to remove what the legislature has done."

Stone said the state agency dropped the profit allowance in October payments to nursing homes. State policy for the remainder of the year apparently will depend on the meeting with Downing and subsequent action by the control board or legislature.

The combined sale price for the Malabar property was $305,000, up $1,000 because the option on one parcel expired during two previous delays by the board in granting the Department of Natural Resources authority to buy the land.

The board has delayed the purchases for more than a month because an audit is underway on the state operation of the 635-acre farm. Board members admitted they were uncertain of the details or purpose of the audit by state Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson.

The controllers approved a grant of $131,000 for planning, operation and equipment costs at the Ohio State Firemen's Training Academy in suburban Reynoldsburg. The academy is expected to open in mid-1977.

Ferguson was permitted to waive competitive bidding to hire Price, Waterhouse and Co. to audit the payroll records of the transportation department's Oberlin Garage.

A state auditor's office examiner who once operated the garage has been indicted in Lorain County for misuse of state funds and equipment, according to Deputy Auditor John Blum.

Under the circumstances, Blum said an outside audit would be more appropriate. The defendant in the case is currently on leave from Ferguson's office, awaiting trial, Blum said.

In other action, the board: —Approved $178,000 for repairs and renovation at Cleveland State University.

—Approved release of $507,000 for an extension to the utility system at Ohio University's Clipping Hall.

—Backed a request from auditor Ferguson for waiver of competitive bidding to hire Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Co. for an evaluation of data processing security functions of the Regional Income Tax Agency in Cuyahoga County. The estimated cost was put at a maximum $40,000.

—Authorized release of $128,000 for remodeling of the women's ward at Lima State Hospital.

—Approved release of $1.19 million to the Mental Health Department for certification renovation of the Medical and Surgical Building at Cleveland Developmental Center.

—Approved release of $2.2 million to natural resources for planning funds at Deer Creek Lodge and Golf Course in Fayette and Pickaway counties.

—Released $24,874 to natural resources for development of a program to plug idle oil and gas wells that have been abandoned and $51,254 to reclaim pre-law strip mined land.

Stock list turns mixed

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was mixed today, running into some resistance from oil-price worries.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks lost about a point in the early going. But gainers took a 4-3 lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Trading was active.

The market's attention seemed to be focused on a meeting of 10 Arab oil ministers in Kuwait to discuss their position on a price-increase decision scheduled for Dec. 15.

Iraq's oil minister said his country insists on a 25 per cent increase in the oil price, while a spokesman for some other members of the group called for a more moderate approach.

Today's early prices included Texas Oil & Gas, down 1/8 at 25 1/4; Utah International, off 3/4 at 63 3/4; and American Telephone, up 1/4 at 61 3/4.

On Monday the Dow Jones industrial average gained 7.07 to 955.87.

Advances outnumbered declines by close to a 5-2 margin on the NYSE, and the exchange's composite index rose .35 to 54.96.

Big Board volume came to 20.93 million shares.

GOP seeks new national chairman

WASHINGTON (AP) — Divided and then defeated, Republicans are going to have to get their act together in a hurry now that Mary Louise Smith as GOP national chairman.

They have eight weeks to agree on a successor or line up sides for a fight. They not only need a chairman, they need somebody, or some group, to speak for the party on matters of national policy.

Mrs. Smith, who took the party's top post 26 months ago at the request of President Ford, announced on Monday that she will resign upon the selection of a new chairman. That will come at a Republican National Committee meeting on Jan. 14 and 15.

Neither Ford nor Ronald Reagan, principals in the 1976 fight for GOP power, had any public comment on her departure or possible successor.

Associates said Ford had indicated to Mrs. Smith that he would prefer to have her remain at the committee. Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller asked her to stay, as did other administration leaders.

But at the same time, the conservative wing of the party, where Reagan's power is based, gave signals that she should go.

Although Reagan declined comment, Pete Hannaford, an aide, noted that it is customary in both parties for the national chairman to resign after an election defeat. Hannaford said he did not know whether Reagan would make any recommendations on a successor, "but he will obviously be interested in who is selected."

While some conservatives have said Reagan should be the chairman, the former California governor has said he doesn't want the job.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said Mrs. Smith met with Ford last Thursday to inform him of her decision. He declined to discuss Ford's role in the naming of a successor, but said Ford "certainly considers himself to be the head of the Republican party."

That's what the impending fight is about, for Reagan's conservative followers do not agree.

Mrs. Smith's timing surprised some party professionals, which may account for the initial silence from the two top GOP figures.

One knowledgeable Republican said she had not been expected to step aside so soon. Mrs. Smith, the wife of a Des Moines, Iowa, physician, was elected to a two-year term at the Republican National Convention in August. Had she chosen to remain, it would have taken a two-thirds vote of the national committee to oust her.

Mrs. Smith told associates she did not want to stay at the committee for two years, and that she felt it best to quit immediately, so a successor can begin to prepare for the 1978 elections.

Talk-show host foils suicide bid

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — As radio talk-show host Brian Lehrer was about to go off the air, he decided to take one more phone call. It turned out to be a lifesaver.

The young man who was calling told him matter-of-factly over the air that he was about to commit suicide.

"We were talking about other stuff when I made some reference to two weeks from now," Lehrer recalled Monday, "and he said, 'I'm not going to be around then.' I asked him if he was going away, and he said, 'I'm committing suicide.'"

The youth, Matthew Joslin, 19, later attempted to hang himself, but Lehrer's stalling and action by a listener enabled police to reach Joslin in time. They rushed him, unconscious, to a nearby hospital where he was reported in good condition today.

The call came at 2:50 a.m. Monday, just before signoff at WQBK in suburban Glenmont. Lehrer played the sign-off song "Goodnight, Irene," and then kept Joslin on the phone for an hour after going off the air, time enough for an alert listener to call police.

"We talked about music, and just general bull," said the bearded, long-haired announcer. "I was trying to keep him going ... I wanted to get his name and town, and I finally did."

Lehrer got Joslin to tell him his name and his address, a residence in Pittstown in neighboring Rensselaer County.

Lehrer said the youth mentioned troubles with a girl friend and said that he did not know the meaning of life.

"He was implying that somebody — me — was taking time to care, to take an interest," Lehrer said. "I guess he just wanted some expression of love. Also, he was impressed that listeners were calling up about him."

"But at 10 minutes before four, he said he was going to hang himself and hung up."

Fluorocarbons ban draws step closer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration today proposed requiring warning labels on most aerosol cans containing fluorocarbons, as a prelude to a ban in the future.

The proposal would affect primarily spray deodorants, antiperspirants, hair sprays, colognes and fragrances.

The spray cans would have to carry the legend: "Warning. Contains a chlorofluorocarbon that may harm the public health and environment by reducing ozone in the upper atmosphere."

Meanwhile, the Consumer Product Safety Commission on Monday took the first step to ban fluorocarbon aerosols, saying they "present an unreasonable risk of injury to consumers."

The FDA claims it has regulatory jurisdiction over about 80 per cent of the fluorocarbon sprays on the U.S. market, or about one billion cans a year at the present sales volume.

The FDA said non-prescription drug sprays for bronchial and asthma and all prescription drug sprays would be exempt from the present labeling action, pending review of whether alternative gas propellants are suitable for those products.

Public comments on the proposed warning labels will be accepted for the next 60 days. The FDA said the proposal would take effect 30 days after a final order was published in the Federal Register.

"The purpose of this warning is to encourage self-restraint by consumers in purchasing aerosol products containing chlorofluorocarbons and to encourage them to seek alternative products," said FDA Commissioner Alexander M. Schmidt.

"Our goal is to reduce consumer use of chlorofluorocarbons in aerosols by voluntary action until such aerosols are phased out by mandatory regulation," he said.

"This action is unique and should represent the first of a worldwide series of actions by all nations to limit the release of chlorofluorocarbons into the atmosphere. Given the long-term nature of the hazard, the way in which we are going about the phase-out and warning labels on aerosols will be to the consumer's maximum benefit," Schmidt said.

Another windfall in peso devaluation

MEXICO CITY (AP) — New government restrictions on trading in foreign currencies have given American tourists in Mexico another windfall, increasing the value of their dollars nearly 18 per cent.

To check panic buying of U.S. dollars, the government's Banco de Mexico ordered the banks on Monday to suspend trading in foreign currencies and gold until further notice.

However, savings and checking accounts in foreign currencies were not affected. Foreign exchange houses continued buying and selling dollars. Tourists were able to exchange their dollars for pesos at hotels, although the hotels would not buy the pesos back from departing visitors. But bank branches at Mexico City's international airport were buying and selling up to $300 per customer.

The suspension pushed the buying rate at foreign exchange dealers to 28.20 pesos to the dollar, up from 24 Friday and an increase of 125 per cent since the Mexican currency was first devalued on Sept. 1. The bank rate at the airport varied between 25 and 28 pesos to the dollar.

Business houses were not as favored as the tourists. The suspension halted the transfer of profits out of the country by foreign firms, and companies importing goods had to defer payment in foreign currencies. But the central bank said foreign currency could be purchased to meet loans or payment plans arranged through a financial institution.

The government ordered the trading restrictions following a run on the banks last Friday by people buying dollars. The run was the result of widespread rumors of a political crisis and another devaluation of the peso. President Luis Echeverria is to be succeeded Dec. 1 by Jose Lopez Portillo, another member of the Institutional Revolutionary party.

The Echeverria government had hoped the original devaluation on Sept. 1 would bolster the tourism industry and spur exports by lowering the cost of Mexican goods abroad. But the erosion of the peso has meant rapid new inflation for Mexicans and there has been a steady flight of capital out of the country.

Ohio vote recount expected

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Secretary of State Ted W. Brown was to announce today final official results of the presidential election in Ohio between President Ford and Jimmy Carter. A recount was viewed as a near certainty.

An aide to Brown said Monday that Carter's margin would be well under the one-half of 1 per cent which guarantees petitioners a recount at state expense.

Brown, a Republican who is Ohio's chief election officer, said he would accede to a request for a recount by a majority of Ford's 25 candidates for the electoral college.

Final results from three remaining counties, including Summit County, were received by Brown's office Monday and Carter's margin was about 9,000 votes out of 4.19 million cast, a source in the Secretary of State's office said. Brown had predicted a turnout of 4.22 million.

Carter's margin would have to be over 21,000 to head off a state-paid recount and even then Ford's backers could ask for the recanvass at their own expense.

The last recount of a statewide contest was in 1974 when Gov. James A. Rhodes upset former Gov. John J. Gilligan by fewer than 12,000 votes. The recount showed Rhodes margin growing slightly and Gilligan agreed to call a halt before it was completed.

The process of going back to 88 county election boards for tabulations by paper ballot and voting machine is expected to take two to three weeks. Each side will be permitted to have observers to monitor proceedings.

If Ford should win in the recount, he would still trail Carter nationwide by two electoral votes, unless some other state also had a turnaround.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — You saw her winning gold medals in Montreal this summer, courtesy of ABC. Tonight, you'll see her back home in Romania, sharing the bill with comic Flip Wilson, courtesy of CBS.

I have reference to Nadia Comaneci, the world's most famous 14-year-old gymnast. She's the main attraction in tonight's CBS special, "Nadia — From Romania With Love." It commences at 8 p.m. EST.

If you plan to watch it, don't expect this one-hour program to delve into the personal life of the little lady or give any hint how — or if — her Olympic fame has affected her or her family.

The show, made by Wilson's production company and Romania's state-run broadcast works, is a curious, if amiable, mish-mash of various scenes that seem intended to tout Romania as much as Nadia.

It includes stunning displays of gymnastic beauty, gentle Wilson humor, a plug for a Romanian pop music star named Olympia, and several segments that are, well, stock travelogue material.

Said segments show some ladies in traditional Romanian costumes en route to a "ritual love dance." Later, some hearties, also in historic and colorful garb, do a leaping-about dance that Wilson informs us has been the rage in Romania for 2,000 years.

All of it makes this customer suspect a Romanian tourist official rounded up some dancers and told them, "Okay, get out there and look traditional. This is American television."

Whatever the case, neither it nor Olympia the singer add a heckuva lot to the proceedings.

The hour gets cooking only when it shows Nadia, her Olympic teammates, and younger female gymnasts not even in their teens, all working out on and off the beams.

Wilson, whose humor at times can be abrasive, is low-key and relatively unobtrusive in this look at Nadia & Co. He acts primarily as a narrator who gently and deftly gags it up with the kids now and then.

Early in the program, you'll see Romanian first-graders training for the Olympics and probably will wonder if that's all they do there — train, train, train.

If they also open school books and study, it isn't shown. A pity. Some viewers may get the impression all the kids will get out of life is a Ph.D. in parallel bars.

But the gymnastics, some filmed in slow-motion, are incredible, particularly the display Nadia's best friend and teammate, Theodora Ungureanu, puts on against an all-white backdrop. It's sheer poetry.

Another fine sequence: The gymnastics exhibition Nadia and her teammates put on in her hometown gymnasium before a friendly, enthusiastic crowd of fans, friends and relatives.

Tonight's hour is fairly good. But it could have been so much better had it dumped the tourist stuff and looked at the personal side of Nadia, her teammates and the kids who will follow them.

A change for the condor

The California condor is not a pretty bird. It has a naked, vulturous red head which most people find unattractive. In response it lacks the fiercely noble aspect that has made the eagle such a popular symbol.

When it takes wing, however, the California condor is something to behold. This largest of North American land birds can soar almost endlessly on the thermal currents that buoy up its nine-foot wingspan. In flight, the condor is a creature of extraordinary beauty.

In a sense, this has nothing to do with the matter - the matter, that is, of this magnificent bird's threatened demise. Lesser endangered species are worthy of concern, too, as a part of our dwindling natural heritage. The condor is simply more conspicuous than most.

Once these huge creatures could be seen all along the Pacific Coast, from Mexico north to Canada. A decade ago their numbers had been reduced to about 55; now they are down to 45 or so. Environmentalists would like to reverse the fatal trend, but they disagree on how to set about it.

The Condor Recovery Team,

sponsored by various government agencies, is seeking Fish and Wildlife Service approval of a plan to breed condors in captivity and release young birds into the wilds. While the Audubon Society seems to favor the plan, the Sierra Club opposes it as having little chance of success.

However valid the Sierra Club's misgivings may be, they seem essentially negative. If there is any reasonable chance of strengthening the condor's tenuous hold on existence as a species, we believe the attempt should be made.

WASHINGTON CALLING ... By Marquis Childs

Harriman still serves the nation

WASHINGTON — So much in this column over the years has been devoted to criticism and fault-finding that it is a pleasure to write a tribute — yes, a sentimental tribute — to a great American who is observing his 85th birthday. At 85, W. Averell Harriman is as alert and as concerned with the condition of the world as he was when he was an active participant in world affairs 30 years or more ago.

Harriman and his wife Pamela recently returned from Moscow where he had a three-hour discussion with Communist Party Chairman Leonid Brezhnev. Harriman told friends on his return that he thought he had performed the greatest service, as a private citizen, of his entire life.

While it was written that he had gone as the representative of President-elect Jimmy Carter, this was not entirely accurate. A considerable discussion with Carter had preceded his departure. But he did not go in any official capacity.

Brezhnev, as they sat down to talk in the Kremlin, confronted Harriman with a series of statements made during the presidential campaign the general tenor of which was the need to get tougher with the Soviet Union and to budget larger amounts for weaponry and particularly nuclear weapons.

Harriman did not, as has been written, dismiss this as merely campaign rhetoric. He said it was a time for patience and judgment should be postponed until after the election.

On his side, Brezhnev discussed frankly the hard-liners in the Kremlin and their doubts about any relaxation of tensions with the United States. He said he had committed himself to the policy that had led to SALT I and, hopefully, would bring about SALT II.

Harriman was convinced that Brezhnev had put his position in as honest and straightforward a fashion as possible. He did not hesitate to remind the chairman of some of the embarrassments arising under the Helsinki agreement, with flagrant violations of freedom of exit and other stipulations.

After Moscow the Harrimans went to Yugoslavia where diplomatic bungling had produced a thicket of ill will.

This was compounded by Carter's own ill-advised comment on whether or not American troops should intervene if the independence of Yugoslavia were threatened upon the death of 84-year-old Marshal Tito. Harriman had extensive talks that helped to ease the situation.

To characterize Harriman as a hawk or a dove in nonsense and in particular because of one of the crucial steps in his career. Ambassador to Moscow in the closing years of World War II, he returned to Washington after the armistice to tell President Truman the full truth about Stalin's post-war plans.

The dictator had not the slightest intention of removing Russian troops from Eastern Europe and giving the satellites a chance for independence. This was his preserve and he intended to keep it with all the ruthlessness that had seen the extinction of millions of Soviet citizens.

I have a vivid memory of a session with Harriman held at that time with a dozen or so commentators in which he sought to give us the same facts. The pro-Soviet propaganda during the war had been very strong and some were reluctant to believe him. But every word he spoke was proved by later events.

With the enormous arsenal of nuclear weapons on each side of the divide, Harriman has come to believe there is no alternative but not, as he has put it, to peaceful co-existence but competitive co-existence; competitive in all fields of excellence.

I am sure his influence will be in opposition to ever-larger military budgets and to the limited nuclear war that is part of the Schlesinger doctrine with active disciples prepared to push it. He wants nothing for himself except, as in Moscow, the role of good citizen.

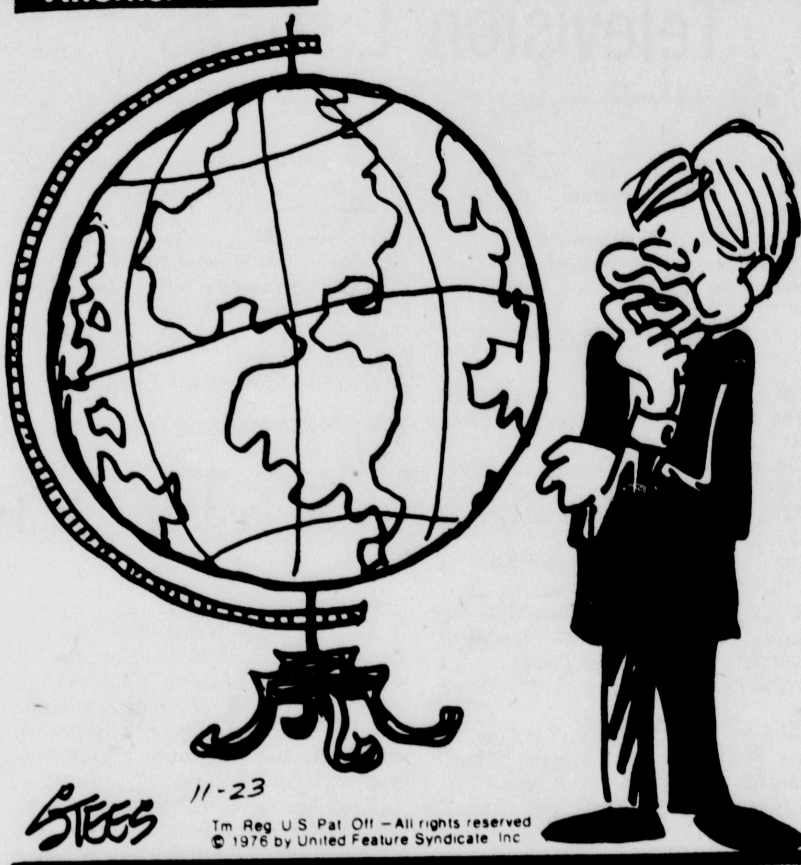

Returning from Europe recently, I told him I had talked with many Europeans who took it for granted that Harriman would be the next Secretary of State. He laughed. "Ten years ago I would have been interested," he said, "but not today."

As ambassador to London and to Moscow, as governor of New York, with a half-dozen posts in the State Department, including an effort to end the Vietnam war long before the sorry collapse that brought such opprobrium on the United States, Carter should draw on this range of experience not merely in the interval of transition but once he is in the White House — and not occasionally, but on a week-to-week basis.

May I say for myself that I hope this wise man can be with us until 90 or, for that matter, 100. Born very rich, he might have been a polo player and playboy and one of those donors who save their conscience by tax-deductable gifts. He has instead been a foremost public citizen in a nation where that title is all too rare.

Atwater's New History of Ohio in 1838 declared that there were 17,000 abolitionists in the state. Then, in Trumbull County alone, there were 2,249 enrolled members.—AP

Big money sought for arts school

By GREG THOMPSON

Associated Press Writer
DALLAS (AP) — Dallas' millionaires had better take notice.

Dr. Kermit Hunter, just retired as dean of Southern Methodist University's Meadows School of the Arts, is going after big money for his school.

And Hunter has a history of succeeding at what he sets out to do. At one time or another, Hunter, 65, bought and sold minor league baseball players in West Virginia, studied piano at the Juilliard School of Music, managed the North Carolina Symphony and earned a doctorate in English literature at the University of North Carolina.

He was a newspaper reporter for six years and a professor of literature for eight; he directed the American defense of the Caribbean during World War II and won the Legion of Merit; and he has written more outdoor dramas seen by more people than any other American playwright.

Hunter, who retired June 1 after steering the Meadows School through its first 12 years, is now writer-in-residence and head development officer there.

"I think we can get $10 million to $15 million in 12 to 18 months for the Meadows School," said Hunter. "We're going after the big money — two-three-four million dollar gifts."

The fund-raising drive is part of SMU's latest concentrated effort at boosting its endowment.

Hunter said the Meadows School, founded in 1964, largely through the efforts of Dallas oil millionaire Algor H. Meadows, has an actual endowment of about $6 million. His goal is $35 million.

When he's not coaxing money from millionaires, Hunter is continuing his career as a playwright. He's written more than 40 outdoor productions, seen by more than six million persons. Thirteen of Hunter's plays, including five new ones, were performed this summer.

"No other American playwright has 13 dramas in production," Hunter said. "As far as I know, no American playwright other than Dr. Paul Green has ever had more than 40 plays done professionally."

Hunter and Green, a former University of North Carolina philosophy professor, are in the forefront of the outdoor historical drama movement.

Plain sex talk

about paraplegics

DEAR ABBY: PUZZLED IN NEW YORK couldn't understand why a nurse he was engaged to marry dropped him for a patient who was paralyzed from the waist down. He asked, "What good can he do her as a husband?" Well, I have news for PUZZLED.

I am married to a paraplegic. His spine was severed by a bullet that rendered his legs useless, but the rest of him is just fine. He is just like any other man in all respects except he rolls instead of walks.

And anyone who thinks that sex isn't a part of our marriage is really stupid. Paralyzed people need love, and they can give it too. And for the record, we are both 22.

HAPPY IN ILLINOIS
DEAR HAPPY: Read on for another interesting letter from a reader who also speaks with authority, with a view from a wheelchair:

DEAR ABBY: May I answer PUZZLED IN N.Y., the healthy able-bodied man who was engaged to a nurse, but lost her to a policeman who was paralyzed from the waist down? PUZZLED asked, "How can he do her any good as a husband?"

DEAR PUZZLED:
As a totally paralyzed person in a wheelchair, I think I can tell you a few things you ought to know. Just because a person's legs stop functioning, it doesn't mean his mind and heart also stop. He can still think, get angry, make decisions and love.

Perhaps one day you will be able to see things in a different light. I can assure you that seeing things from a wheelchair not only changes your level of viewing life, but also broadens your appreciation of it.

It is possible that your former fiancée's life with a paralyzed husband could be highly rewarding in all respects, and that means sexually, too.

I want to caution you about something. The possibility of your becoming paralyzed or suffering some form of disability is one in 10,000 and growing greater every year. Don't gamble your happiness on only being able to stand up.

WHEELCHAIR IN FORT WORTH
DEAR READERS: If you would like some excellent information and/or instruction on how to handle your sexual feelings satisfactorily through physically handicapped, get in touch with your County or State Easter Seal Society, also known as Society For Crippled Children and Adults.

And the office of SIECUS (Sex Information and Education Council of the U.S., 1855 Broadway, New York, N.Y. 10023) can also provide you with helpful material. Both agencies also can provide information about the help that is available to you in your own community.

Both above agencies are non profit, so if you write to inquire about the help that's available to you in your own community, please enclose a stamped, addressed envelope for their reply.

Three charges filed

Police officers arrest check forgery suspect

An 18-year-old Martinsville woman was arrested Monday by Washington C.H. police officers and charged with three counts of check forgery.

Crystal D. Jackson was arrested following a joint investigation conducted by Fayette County Sheriff's Sgt. William Crooks and Washington C.H. Police Specialist Larry Walker.

She has been charged with forging and cashing checks at Evans Market, Bloomingburg, and at Sagar's Dairy Store, Washington Avenue and the B and J Carryout, Blackstone Avenue. The alleged incidents occurred in October, Walker said, and the particular checks had been reported stolen by Washington C.H. resident Terri Penn who said they had been removed from her car as it was parked in Sabina.

The suspect is currently incarcerated in the Fayette County jail, pending an initial appearance in Washington C.H. Municipal Court.

The investigation is still being conducted by both Washington C.H. Police and Fayette County Sheriff's departments.

Dice property sold

The Jean Howat Dice home, 513 Leesburg Ave., was sold for $40,000 in David L. Cooper, 2367 Lewis Road, Saturday in a public auction conducted by F.J. Weade Associates, Inc.

The property, appraised at $75,000, was sold to the highest of the four bidders seeking to purchase the estate.

Included in the sale was 1.475 acres with a 237-foot frontage along Leesburg Avenue and 315-foot frontage on Highland Avenue. The ten-room, two-story house dates back to 1842.

Auctioneer Frank J. Weade said the $35,000 difference in the sale and the appraised price was very unusual adding that he thought the appraisal was too high.

The true test of any value is to submit it to the public for sale," Weade said.

The 126-acre Dice farm was not included in Saturday's sale. It will be sold at a later date when the lease on the acreage expires.

Lucasville security probe set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — After three escape attempts in an 11-day span, state prison officials have sent an investigating team to the Southern Ohio Correctional Facility to study the prison's security.

"This team of officials will have full authority to make any immediate changes in current security procedures that they may determine are necessary," said George F. Denton, director of the Department of Rehabilitation and Correction.

Denton said the three-man team will conduct a "thorough evaluation of existing security procedures." He said the probe will continue "as long as necessary," but added that he expects most of the evaluation to be complete within a week.

Denton said that although the three escape attempts may indicate weaknesses in some areas of security, the Lucasville prison's overall security must be considered sound since none of the attempts was successful.

The investigating team will include E. Blaine Haskins, department assistant director; John P. Canney, chief of the department's division of institutions, and Frank Carnein, security administrator for the department.

The probe comes on the heels of three escape attempts, including back-to-back attempts Friday and Saturday.

On Nov. 10, two inmates sprinted across the prison yard and scaled two prison fences. One was apprehended just outside the fence, but the other had to be hunted down in the woods near the prison.

On Friday, nine inmates were being transported to Columbus when two .22-caliber pistols were pulled and the driver of the small van ordered to stop. The driver and guard veered off the road and leaped from the van as they were fired upon. None of the inmates got out of the van.

On Saturday morning, two inmates escaped from their cell window and ran for the prison fences. The guard towers opened fire on the pair, and both surrendered in the prison yard.

After the Friday attempt, prison officials ordered that all inmates being transported must be strip-searched and change into special orange coveralls before boarding vehicles.

Department spokesman Joseph Ashley said Monday the department is still trying to determine how the guns got into the van. He said investigators believe only one inmate was involved in the attempt.

Ashley said the current investigation will also include searches of cellblocks and other areas, looking for weapons or any situations that might create the possibility of escape.

Ashley said searches of various cells also were conducted over the weekend.

Utility billing 'reasonable'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The first state ruling under a law regulating the way electric companies pass through increased coal costs to residential customers has found Ohio Edison's monthly billings are "fair and reasonable."

But the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio said Monday the company's thermal or coalburning efficiency program has steadily declined and should be explained in more detail.

"If a plant is thermally efficient, it is using the minimum amount of fuel to generate the maximum amount of electricity," a PUCO spokesman said.

"While there are problems in thermal efficiency, all that really means anything is there is no call for any adjustments or rebates at this time."

The PUCO audit said Ohio Edison's company-owned mining operation was producing coal at a reasonable cost, while the utility has cut down its reliance on high priced, spot market coal.

Proper posture saves feet

One foot specialist compares the wearing of poorly designed shoes to driving a car with wheels out of balance and front end out of alignment. You can imagine the effect on your feet when bad posture throws your body weight out of balance on your feet. Shifting an unbalanced weight distribution along the heel and arch can make ordinary walking a torment. Even normal fatigue from being on one's feet hour after hour can make any foot movement agony.

To minimize fatigue and foot discomfort: 1) body posture should be correct to properly balance body weight on the oppressed feet; 2) the finest and best-fitted shoes are the least we can offer to our hard-working feet.

Mrs. Boggs entertains Circle

Mrs. Marshall Boggs was hostess to the Jenny Adams Circle of First Baptist Church, when the group met. Assisting hostesses were the Misses Metta and Bertha Graves, who served pumpkin pie and coffee preceding the meeting.

Mrs. Frank Reno, circle leader, gave a Thanksgiving Prayer and the devotion theme of "Thanksgiving" was presented by Mrs. Albert Caplinger, who gave a brief history of the First Thanksgiving in 1621. She told of how the Pilgrims came to the new land, America, with a Bible in one hand and a will to work in the other. She stressed of giving thanks before food, before decisions, before a new day and before retiring at night. She read the poem, "On Thanksgiving."

Various committees made reports and for roll call each gave a Thanksgiving Scripture verse. The group voted to send $10 to the scholarship student for Christmas, and to donate $15 to the state project of "Greenbacks for Green Lake. Members' project is to bring toys and games for Church Women United. The offerings were collected.

Mrs. Helen Dowler, program chairman, turned the program over to Mrs. Robert West, who told of the missionary work being done in Zaire, Africa, formerly the Belgian Congo. There are now 62 missionaries there, she said, and 8,591 people were baptized last year there. A skit was presented by Mrs. West, with Mrs. Irene Giebelhaus, Mrs. Dowler and Mrs. Caplinger assisting. They portrayed the problem encountered when trying to help a lady who desperately needed help but became belligerent when called upon. A discussion followed, as to the proper procedure to follow.

The next meeting will be held at 1:30 p.m. Dec. 16 in the home of Mrs. Albert Caplinger with a gift exchange.

Altrusa Club holds meeting

Mrs. Susan Link presented to the Altrusa Club a program naming outstanding women, when her topic was "Opening the Doors." She told of many of the women who have become prominent in various fields.

The members met at The Rendezvous Room for a dinner preceding the meeting. Members voted to donate to the Altrusa International Grants-in-Aid. Chairman of various committees made reports, and plans were made for the Christmas party at the American Legion Hall Dec. 18, from 1:30 to 3 p.m.

Mrs. Gail Mershon conducted the meeting in ritualistic form and commended Mrs. James Wagner for her yearbooks and newsletter for the year, and her assistants Mrs. Hans Seiler and Mrs. Russell Ebert Jr.

Members are to bring wrapping for Christmas gifts for the Dec. 2 party, to be held at the Staunton Fellowship Hall. A dinner-meeting will be held at 6:30 p.m.

Mrs. Mershon closed the meeting with the closing ritual.

Fellowship

The November meeting of the Women's Fellowship of First Christian Church was held at the church with Mrs. Elizabeth Fullerton and the Mary Guild in charge of the program. Mrs. Fullerton gave the devotion using the topic, "Recipe for Living."

Various reports were made by the card, shutin and bereavement committees. The slate of officers for 1977 was presented by Miss Margaret Gibson: President- Mrs. Mary Lou Spengler; vice president- Mrs. Robert Climer; secretary- Mrs. Bernice Robbins; Mrs. Denise Matthews, assistant secretary; Mrs. Helen Sanders, treasurer; and Mrs. Carol Cox, assistant. Mrs. Betty Sheridan was the installing officer.

The Cecilian Double Trio presented the program. The Trio is composed of Mrs. Edwin Thompson, Mrs. Lloyd Fennig, Mrs. Verna Williams and Mrs. Maurice Hopkins, with Mrs. Donald Schwaigert at the piano. Jeff Sheridan was the guest soloist with the group.

A dessert course was served by Mrs. Daisy Gossard, Mrs. Elsie Blessing, Mrs. Mac Dews, Mrs. Esther Edwards, Mrs. Lucy Sells and Mrs. Mabel Whitmer. There were 26 members present.

Stitch and Chat Club of Jeff gives laprobes

The Stitch and Chat Club of Jeffersonville met recently in the dining room of the United Methodist Church for a carry-in Thanksgiving luncheon. Twenty-one members and one guest, little Randy Ellars, were seated at a table decorated with seasonal arrangements. Mrs. Thelma Cline gave the invocation.

Following the dinner, Mrs. Joe Ferguson presided at the meeting and read the poem, "Over the River."

In the absence of the secretary, Mrs. William Allen, Mrs. Alice Steen read the minutes of the preceding meeting. Mrs. Ottis Thompson read the treasurer's report, and cheer cards were signed for members and friends who are ill. Many Christmas gifts were brought to the meeting to be taken to the veterans at Veteran's Administration Hospital, Chillicothe.

Two laprobes were taken to friends as a gift from the club. Members are asked to bring food for a basket at the next meeting, for a Christmas family gift. This basket will be given to the church for distribution.

The December 17th luncheon will be a Christmas carry-in party with a $1 gift exchange. Hostesses will be Mrs. Ferguson, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Agnes Ford, Mrs. Mary Himmelpach and Mrs. Helen Burke.

Prayer breakfast draws 74 persons

Seventy-four persons attended the teen prayer breakfast held at the South Side Church of Christ Tuesday morning.

Decorations of pumpkins and candles highlighted the Thanksgiving theme during the meditation time. "That First Thanksgiving" was the theme used by the Rev. Charles Richmond for the meditation time.

Latonda Baily sang "How Great Thou Art" accompanied by Mrs. Libby Yerian. Latonda Baily and Betsy Owen, both freshmen at Washington Senior High School, led the singing.

Maurice Pfeifer, principal at Washington Senior High School, offered prayer for the food. A breakfast of scrambled eggs and ham, pumpkin bread and milk was served. Jon Creamer, teacher at Washington Senior High School, spoke on "It's Difficult to be Thankful."

The next prayer breakfast will be held on November 30 at 6:45 a.m. All teens, grades 9 through 12, are welcome.

The copious consumption of intoxicants in early Ohio, according to the Ohio Historical Society, was not confined to any group or class. It reported that at Granville in Licking County there were six distilleries and the 1,700 people in the township consumed 10,000 gallons of whisky annually. Farmers usually took a load of corn to the distillery and received a barrel of liquor in exchange.—AP

Gilmore hearing moved up one week

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Gary Gilmore, weakening in his fourth day without food, will appear before a special meeting of the Utah Board of Pardons one week from today to demand that he be allowed to die before a firing squad.

Board member Thomas Harrison said Monday that the three-man panel decided to move the hearing from Dec. 6 to Nov. 30 to avoid conflict with a state law requiring that executions be carried out within 60 days of sentencing.

Gilmore's 60 days will be up on Dec. 7, and some officials have said they were concerned the law might be interpreted as requiring that he be released if he were not executed by then.

The 35-year-old Gilmore has fought attempts to delay his execution for the slaying of a Provo motel clerk during a robbery. He has said he will plead personally before the board for a speedy death.

The board must either uphold the death sentence or commute it to life imprisonment, and the chairman has indicated board members may have little choice but to go along with Gilmore's wishes.

One day before Gilmore was to have addressed the board last Wednesday, he and his girl friend, Nicole Barrett, 20, took overdoses of sleeping pills in an apparent suicide plot.

Both are recovering, but Gilmore began a hunger strike Friday night when officials refused to let him telephone Mrs. Barrett at the mental institution where her mother committed her. He has since consumed only water, coffee, sugar and headache medication.

Deputy Warden Leon Hatch said Gilmore, confined to the Utah State Prison infirmary, was weakening. But he said Gilmore's condition was not yet of great concern to the prison doctor.

Prison officials asked the attorney general's office Monday whether they could force Gilmore to accept nourishment by intravenous tubes.

Mrs. Barrett is in a state mental institution in Provo. Officials have declined to release information on her condition.

Meanwhile, Salt Lake County authorities said they had determined that Gilmore obtained the sleeping pills from outside the prison.

Buckeyes fall to 12th

Pittsburgh keeps top spot

By LARRY PALADINO
AP Sports Writer

Michigan's 16-14 upset loss two weeks ago to Big Ten rival Purdue may have not been as devastating as some may have imagined.

Coach Bo Schembechler, whose team dropped from first to fourth in the rankings after the setback, has vaulted up to second behind Pittsburgh, which took over the top spot.

Apparently the Wolverines' 22-0

thrashing of Ohio State on national television Saturday was more impressive to poll voters than Southern California's 24-14 national TV triumph over UCLA.

Instead of moving up from third in the poll, Southern Cal stayed where it was and Michigan replaced previous runnerup UCLA in the balloting by 62 sports writers and broadcasters around the country.

Michigan, 10-1, and Southern Cal, 9-1, will meet in the Rose Bowl game at Pasadena, Calif., on New Year's Day.

"I would say that game on the West Coast could be for the national championship," Schembechler said.

He wouldn't expand on that when pressed Monday. All season he has loughed off the significance of the rankings, saying that he'd be concerned with being No. 1 "only in the final poll."

Pittsburgh faces 16th-ranked Penn State on Friday night. A loss could push Michigan back into first place — or maybe Southern Cal, if it can beat Notre Dame on Saturday.

If Pittsburgh beats Penn State it would still have to win over Georgia in the Sugar Bowl to expect a national championship.

Pittsburgh received 39 firstplace poll votes (compared with 44 last week) and 1,172 of a possible 1,240 points. Michigan garnered 13 firsts and 1,050 points, while seven voters picked Southern Cal as No. 1. The Trojans are behind Michigan by only four points.

Georgia climbed from a sixth-place tie with Maryland to fourth place, gaining one first-place vote and 807 points. Maryland, headed for the Cotton Bowl owning its first 11-0 record, was fifth with the remaining two firsts and 790 points.

UCLA fell to sixth, followed by Houston, Oklahoma, Texas Tech and Nebraska. Orangebowl bound Ohio State was the only team to drop from the top 10, winding up 12th behind Texas A&M.

Notre Dame is 13th and Colorado and Oklahoma State are tied for 14th. Penn State, Rutgers and Alabama follow. Mississippi and North Carolina round out the top 20, tying for 19th. They replace Iowa State and Missouri, which lost Saturday to Big Eight rivals Oklahoma State and Kansas, respectively.

Jackson still not signed

NEW YORK (AP) — Reggie Jackson is a tough man to pitch to.

American League hurlers have known that for years and American and National League owners are personally finding that out these days.

The latest of these was George Steinbrenner, who runs the New York Yankees. Hoping to sign the celebrated free agent, Steinbrenner lunched with Jackson Monday, ostensibly to talk contract, then waited in line with the others.

Jackson, a slugging outfielder during the baseball season, is a long-distance runner this week. On Wednesday, he will jump to Chicago and talk contract with hamburger king Ray Kroc, owner of the San Diego Padres.

The Yankees and Padres are two of four teams apparently willing to meet Jackson's high-priced salary demands. Jackson, who reportedly wants a five-year, multi-faceted deal that would earn him close to $3 million, spent the weekend in Montreal talking with Expos Chairman of the Board Charles Bronfman.

The Baltimore Orioles, Jackson's team last season, also are interested in signing the 30-year-old outfielder.

Costello and Embry ousted at Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee Bucks' President James Fitzgerald insisted the resignations had been voluntary, but the departures of Coach Larry Costello and General Manager Wayne Embry were inevitable.

Costello, his credibility with his players shattered by their belief that Fitzgerald wanted him fired, announced his resignation Monday night. Embry, who said he had told Fitzgerald of his resignation last week, effective May 31, made it public at a hastily called news conference.

New York Rangers defeat Canucks, 3-2

VANCOUVER (AP) — John Davidson said he was lucky and the Vancouver Canucks were anything but lucky in losing their seventh consecutive National Hockey League game.

The Point After

By MARK REA

High school sports are now going the way of professional sports. Pro seasons overlap so the fans can have non-stop sports throughout the year.

Now, with Miami Trace's big season on the gridiron a little more than a week in everyone's memory, the South Central Ohio League turns its thoughts to basketball.

As the Panthers have dominated football the past few seasons, Circleville has two consecutive cage crowns to their credit.

Two years ago, the Tigers were undefeated in 22 games before being stopped in the district tournament by another SCOL team, Greenfield McClain.

The Highland County Tigers were the cinderella club that year, losing to a team that eventually won the state tournament.

Last season, the Pickaway County Tigers were deprived of a second gold basketball when their only loss came at the hands of Madison Plains.

With this year's prospects, don't look for Circleville to win a third straight title.

This year, the SCOL cage teams may have the best balance they have every had. All seven teams have a chance at the crown. However, some have better chances than others.

MIAMI TRACE

Miami Trace brings their talent off the football field inside to the gym. The Panthers figure to start four players who were vital cogs in the grid team.

Dan Gifford, Art Schlichter, Bill Hanners, and Glen Cobb are the players trading shoulder pads for knee pads. Senior Brant Dunn should be the fifth starter for Trace.

With Schlichter and Dunn at guard, Hanners and Gifford at forward, and Cobb in the middle, Trace has an excellent chance to add a cage crown to their already overflowing trophy case.

WASHINGTON C.H.

The Blue Lions field a depleted varsity squad with only one full-time starter returning. Junior John Denen anchors the Lion attack, both on offense and defense.

Seniors Dee Foster and Sam McClendon, part-time starters in the 1975-76 season, are tabbed for full time roles this season at either guard or forward.

Also helping out the Court House cage hopes is the core of the league winning reserve squad from last season.

Seniors Tom Dean and Mark Burke, along with junior Terry Wilson figure to see a lot of varsity action.

Head coach Gary Shaffer heads into his eighth year of Washington C.H. coaching, making him the dean of SCOL coaches along with Sam Snyder of Greenfield McClain.

GREENFIELD MCCLAIN

Snyder's Tigers will be picked for the basement but they have the potential to surprise a lot of people.

As of this moment, they are leading the league by virtue of their 61-47 win over Paint Valley last Saturday.

Seniors Chuck Cole and Eric Dunson looked impressive for McClain, scoring 22 and 17 points, respectively.

Other starters should include seniors Bill Legge, Mark Current, and Jim Everhart.

Snyder, like Shaffer, begins his eighth year in Greenfield after spending three years there as reserve mentor.

WILMINGTON

Wilmington has the distinction of having everybody back this season. . . that is, except the coach.

The Hurricane has five players that are accustomed to varsity starting roles. Seniors Tony Berlin, Steve Harte, Greg Williams, Steve Williams, and junior Gary Williams make Wilmington's cage hopes look very promising.

And if Wilmington sounds like a breeding ground for basketball players named Williams, the Hurricane has an excellent prospect in sophomore Bob Williams who may start this year also.

Wilmington was disappointing last season, playing at around .500 all season. This season they have a new coach, Jim Staley, and he could make a big difference.

CIRCLEVILLE

Circleville cannot afford to rest on the laurels of past seasons. The Tigers were murdered by graduation, losing four of their starters and more than half of their entire varsity squad.

The lone returnee is Frank Merrill, who suffered a lot battering this fall on the gridiron which may or may not affect his play on the hardwood.

He should be joined by seniors Brian Fath and Tom McGuire while seniors Rusty Holbrook, Eric Pontius, and Tim Milstead figure to back them up.

Head coach Jim Bailey won the SCOL crown last year as a rookie coach but should have a few more problems in his sophomore year.

MADISON PLAINS

Madison Plains has been anxiously awaiting basketball season. The Eagles didn't have much to cheer about this fall, but they boast a fine cage team with the potential to make a strong showing in the league.

Three starters return this winter. Seniors Pete Sullivan, Doug Sifrit, and Gary Self, who is 6-foot-6, present big threats for Plains.

Last year, they were unbeatable at home. Washington C.H. was the only team to master their home court wizardry in the first game of the season. They dealt Circleville their only league loss last year at the Plains gym.

Coach Steve Stewart begins his third season at the Plains reins with a very real chance at the SCOL lead.

HILLSBORO

Hillsboro has a wealth of talent back this year with four starters in addition to their sixth man from last year.

Big scoring Tim Fuller is flanked by fellow seniors Gary Larimer, Randy Sanders, Gary Coffman, and Tim Sharkey as the Indian basketball hopes seem to be on the rise.

Second-year head coach Bill Hogan looks capable of turning around last year's dismal record and has big plans for the Hillsboro five.

There is no doubt that the SCOL teams have a lot of balance this season. It is difficult to pick above the other in the standings. But, after picking 85 per cent of the games correctly in football, I can't resist trying basketball. Therefore, here's how I pick the teams to finish in the SCOL:

1. Miami Trace
2. Wilmington
3. Circleville
4. Madison Plains
5. Washington C.H.
6. Hillsboro
7. Greenfield McClain

The difficulty lies in picking the bottom five teams because with their talent, the top two could be joined by any or all of the bottom teams.

Trace and Wilmington are picked first because of their obvious strengths. The last five are based on the past merits of their returnees and their schedules. Some teams may surprise, but the balance should keep everything evenly matched.

Scoring should take an early trend with steady scorers constantly turning in good games. Look for Fuller, Denen, Schlichter, Self, Gary Williams, and Cole to top the league's scoring department during the season.

Just don't look for anyone to make a shambles of the basketball teams the way Miami Trace did to the football teams. It may be the middle of next February before we really know who the winner will be.

Colts squeak past Miami in 17-16 TV thriller

MIAMI (AP) — Mike Barnes, who knew little glory in the Orange Bowl while toiling for the University of Miami, surfaced as a hero Monday night in the Baltimore Colts' 17-16 victory over the Miami Dolphins.

The 6-foot-6, 256-pound defensive tackle blocked Garo Yepremian's conversion kick with 12 seconds to play, preserving the victory and first place for the Colts in the American Football Conference's Eastern Division.

"You can't have a game that means more than this did," said Baltimore quarterback Bert Jones. "It makes no difference, one point or 100. The W (Win) on the board is what counts."

The victory gave the Colts a 9-2 record and kept them one game ahead of New England in the tight division race.

"It's a matter of trying every time, and sometimes you get one," said Barnes of his leap to knock down

Yepremian's kick. "The Dolphins scare me. They're a great team. But you're lucky sometimes."

Miami's Jim Langer, centering the ball because of an ankle injury to Bob Kuechenberg, blamed himself for the block because of a low snap. "I just blew it," Langer said. "It's my fault."

Yepremian blamed the miss on "timing." But holder Earl Morrall said, "It didn't seem like that bad a kick. They got three or four guys' hands in the air and it's just one of those things."

The miss came after quarterback Bob Griese had moved the Dolphins 69 yards in four plays to a touchdown, 41 yards coming on a pass to Durlei Harris at the Colts' four-yard line. The score came two plays later on a three-yard lunge by Benny Malone.

"It's a tough way to lose," said Miami Coach Don Shula, whose club fell to a 5-6 record and out of playoff contention. "Our team deserved better than what it got."

Jones, who shredded Miami's secondary for 13 completions in 20 attempts and 234 yards, did not agree with Shula.

"We deserved to win," insisted Jones, who passed 25 yards to tight end Raymond Chester for what proved to be the winning touchdown. "If anything, we didn't deserve to lose."

The Colts' other scores came on a six-yard run by Lydell Mitchell and a 27-yard field goal by Toni Linhart. Miami scored on a 20-yard touchdown pass from Griese to Jim Mandich and on a 20-yard Yepremian field goal.

Mitchell ran 20 times for 80 yards for a season total of 1,019 yards — his second straight year over 1,000 yards. He also caught three passes for 42 yards for a season total of 45 receptions for 462 yards.

of his contract in 1977, Athletic Director Bob Woodruff said he would not contact any prospective coaches until after the last game of the season Saturday against Vanderbilt.

After a closed practice with his team, Battle said he would not comment on the resignation until Sunday.

Two other coaches left school by their own design and two more were given no choice Monday when University of Toledo's Jack Murphy resigned, Bowling Green's Don Nehlen quit, Bob Blackman was fired by Illinois and Larry Naviaux was dismissed by Connecticut.

The 43-year-old Murphy told his football players that he had a "strong desire" to continue coaching, but not at Toledo. The Rockets finished the season with a 3-8 record and had a modest 35-32 mark over-all under Murphy since 1971.

Nehlen, citing "a wave of negativity" on campus and in the community, resigned at the conclusion of Bowling Green's football banquet. Nehlen, 41, compiled a 53-35-4 record during nine seasons at his alma mater, including a 6-5 mark this year.

Illinois fired Blackman in the wake of "a genuine search for a person that can get us to the top of the Big Ten." Blackman, 58, left a highly successful career at Dartmouth in 1970 to replace Coach Jim Valek at Illinois and compiled a 29-36-1 record in six years.

Naviaux, a former College Division Coach of the Year at Boston University, was fired after a 2-9 season in his fourth year at Connecticut. In making the announcement, Athletic Director John Toner said, "This is a management decision. It is a difficult one to reach, but it is one we are compelled to reach at this time."

While four coaches were leaving their jobs, another seemed to be on his way out — Missouri's Al Onofrio. Missouri Athletic Director Mel Sheehan said Monday that arrangements were being made to discuss the fate of the football staff.

Onofrio's future was in doubt Saturday after the Tigers were upset 41-14 by Kansas, completing a bizarre 6-5 season that included upset victories over Nebraska, Ohio State and Southern Cal.

that perhaps part of the reason Gullett left was that he is seeking a place where he will be appreciated.

DON GULETT

"Don is a very proud person," Billingham said. "He felt he was a better pitcher. He is a good pitcher. But I think he felt he's never gotten the credit."

"I know sometimes, I'd have an 8-1 lead in the sixth inning and I'd walk a couple guys. They'd be hollering from the dugout. And then strikes, throw strikes." And then you'd give up a double and a home run and they'd say, 'How can you give in to that guy?' And you'd be gone. I've talked to Don and I know that upset him."

And who are "they?"

"People," Billingham said, "who have an opportunity to walk out to the mound and pull you."

There is also what Fred Norman refers to as the "Kapstein factor," referring to Gullett's agent Jerry Kapstein.

"He might have gotten influenced by Jerry," Norman said. "Jerry's very strong in his field, you know."

Joe Wilhoit, a 1919 Wichita, Kan., outfielder in the Western League, hit safely in 69 straight games.

end ever, are The Associated Press' Ohio Central District Players of the Year in Class AAA high school football.

O'Cain, 5-foot-10 and 168 pounds, has piled up 1,367 yards rushing this season for the Lions, third ranked in the state and facing a championship assignment Friday night against No. 1 Cincinnati Moeller.

His coach, Bob Starr, rates the 6-2, 205-pound Gunn, a two-way senior, as the greatest end in the school's history, even better than Pat Curto and Steve Groves. Curto played at Ohio State and Groves at Ohio University.

Gunn caught 16 passes for 281 yards and six touchdowns and, on defense, came up with four interceptions.

Bob Fearing, turning around Columbus Brookhaven's sagging program, earned Central District Class AAA Coach of the Year laurels.

Fearing produced a 7-2 record this fall, the Bearcats' first winning season since 1965. Brookhaven lost all nine of its games in 1975.

In Class AA, Coach Tim Kidwell of Johnstown, Columbus Ready two-way back John Cacchio and Pickerington lineman Jack Neal won the top area laurels in a vote by a district panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

WCH fall stars honored at banquet

Washington Senior High School paid its final tribute to their seniors of the fall sports at a banquet held Monday night.

In all 103 letters were passed out to team members of volleyball, golf, and football and also to the various managers, trainers, and statisticians.

After a buffet dinner was served, athletic director Jon Creamer and assistant athletic director Donova Stickley introduced special guests to the almost 300 persons seated in the WSHS cafeteria.

Dr. Robert Heiny talked briefly about the Blue Lion Athletic Boosters Club and then made a drawing for $200 as the climax to the club's contest.

The money was won by Wendell Shaw, 319 Forest St., and Robyn Heiny, 716 Park Dr.

Golf head coach Rick Crooks related to the audience his experiences with the golf team this season and then passed out four certificates of participation and six varsity letters.

John Moore, a junior, took top honors

with his third year award and a trophy for lowest stroke average for the team.

Moore was also named to the SCOL's top golf team this season and sported the second lowest stroke average in the league.

Volleyball team awards were passed out by head coach Cindy Carper, giving out 14 letters.

Becky and Debbie Wheat both received their second-year award in addition to being named to the All-SCOL volleyball team. Mindy Smith garnered her second-year award also and took home a trophy for most points scored in the season.

Next, football awards were passed out. Freshman coach Don Gibbs and assistant coaches Steve Ross and Dale Lynch gave out awards to the underclassmen.

Head football coach Paul Ondrus then gave the seniors their letters with a small football biography about each. Fifteen seniors were put in the football spotlight one last time to culminate many years in Blue Lion football.

Griffin, Clark Bengal punch

CINCINNATI (AP) — The development of the one-two punch of running backs Archie Griffin and Boobie Clark could be just the weapons the Cincinnati Bengals need for the showdown here Sunday with the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Griffin ran for 139 yards last Sunday and Clark piled up 91 yards in Cincinnati's squaker over the Kansas City Chiefs, 27-24 last Sunday.

The Bengals have been beaten four straight times by the Steelers although they continue to lead the Central Division of the American Conference of the National Football League.

Cincinnati's record is 9-2 but the two-time Super Bowl champion Steelers have won six straight games after dropping four of their first five and Pittsburgh remains in second place. The earlier meeting in Pittsburgh lauded the current Steelers winning spree.

Griffin, the two-time Heisman Trophy winner from Ohio State, broke a 77 yard touchdown run on the first play from scrimmage against the Chiefs. Coach Bill Johnson admitted the Bengals were looking past the Chiefs toward this week's game with the Steelers and had to come from behind to snare Kansas City.

Cesar Geronimo inks two-year contract

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cesar Geronimo, who had his finest season in 1976, has signed a two-year contract with the Cincinnati Reds.

Dick Wagner, executive vice president, announced Monday the agreement which covers the 1977 and 1978 baseball seasons.

Starbuck Mixes Work, Optimism

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Newsfeatures

"Moonlight Feels Right" got to be a hit because two of the musicians who recorded it drove around the country handing out copies of the record to radio disc jockeys and because one dj, Michael St. John in Birmingham, kept his promise to play it "next spring."

Bo Wagner and Bruce Blackman of Starbuck feel they're qualified to recount "a history of marginal rock 'n' roll."
Blackman says, "You live marginally. You work to get enough money to go home, eat a sandwich and watch TV. It's terrible but you can do it." In November 1975 his car was reposessed because he couldn't keep up the payments on it.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	1 NT	Pass

Opening lead — queen of hearts.

The most common form of defense against a suit contract is to keep leading a suit where declarer is short, and in that way force him to use up his trumps.

Take this deal where South went down one as a result of East-West's forcing tactics. West led the queen of hearts and East took dummy's king with the ace. East returned a heart.

South ruffed and led the king of trumps, won by East with the ace. East led another heart, forcing declarer to ruff again and reducing his trump holding to the Q-J-10 while East still had the 8-6-3.

Declarer drew East's trumps and played a low club to dummy's jack, but had to go down when East took the ace and returned his last heart to partner's jack. South won the rest of the tricks with his high diamonds and clubs.

Declarer would have made the contract had he been somewhat more careful. West's queen of hearts lead marked him with the jack, and South therefore should have played the heart deuce from dummy, not the king.

This play would have stymied the defense. The queen would win the trick, but West could not then continue the suit without establishing a heart trick in dummy, whether he led the jack or a low heart.

Declarer would ruff either return, but with a heart winner now established in dummy, he would not have to ruff the next heart lead by East. So, by combating the trump-shortening process, South would have lost only a spade, a heart and a club.

Declarer had a method of play handy to withstand the assault upon his trumps. All he had to do was make use of it.

Speaking of Your Health...

Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

No Need to Fear Surgery at 71

I'm in remarkably good health for a man of 71 years of age. I would feel somewhat ridiculous if I discussed this problem with my doctor. I have a recurring fear that if I ever needed surgery it would be deadly at my age. — Mr. N. T., Ken.

Dr. Mr. T.: Truly hope that I can remove your anxiety. Before I do I would like to emphasize to you and to my other readers that there should be no problem that could be considered "ridiculous" by doctors.

The remarkable advances in anesthesia, the use of pre-operative antibiotics, and the constant monitoring of the heart and lungs with electronic devices during surgery makes an operation safe at almost any age.

Intensive care units and recovery rooms have added enormously to the survival rates, even under the most delicate circumstances.

I do hope that you never need an operation. I hope, too, that you will eliminate the fears that distress you unnecessarily.

Is ringworm a real infection or is it a descriptive term? — Miss M. M., Wash.

Dear Miss M.:

Ringworm is a distinct skin disease caused by a fungus. There are a number of different types of ringworm, usually named after the area of the body that is involved. The scalp, groin, feet, beard and nails can be affected.

This condition is definitely contagious. Therefore, precautions in gyms and swimming pools must be carefully established. There are now some excellent drugs, applied locally, and others taken by mouth, which can control and cure ringworm.

When I eat shrimp or clams I break out in hives. I love them. Is there any way that I can be made less allergic to them? — Mr. F. B. G., Calif.

Dear Mr. G.: I, too, love them and feel sorry for anyone who is allergic to these tasty tidbits.

I doubt that there is any way of desensitizing you. Yet consultation with a specialist in allergy may reveal some way that can minimize the after-effects of such gustatorial indulgence.

Salamander protected

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (AP) — "Santa Cruz Sally" is shy, a heavy eater, a little slow afoot and has long toes — but this coastal county loves her.

Sally, an environmentalists have come to call her, is the endangered Santa Cruz longtoed salamander. The Board of Supervisors is seeking to protect her by creating an "SP" — salamander protection — district around the only two spots on earth she calls home.

They are a few miles apart in Santa Cruz County, at Endicott Pond near Watsonville and Valencia Lagoon, south of here off Highway 1.

The supervisors voted to adopt the "SP" district on Aug. 10, and they are to meet Tuesday to give it final approval.

The zoning law change aimed at saving the last 10,000 of the lizard-like creatures hardly endeared "Sally" to contractors.

In the salamander protection districts, all new curbs and gutters must be rounded, building sites must be passable for wriggling amphibians, grading of Sally's marshy home must be minimized, and continuous retaining walls longer than 100 feet must have gently sloped salamander ramps.

Joan Baez plans trip to Belfast

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Folksinger Joan Baez says she's going to Belfast to help try to end the violence in Northern Ireland.

"It's a cause that's tailored for me for beliefs I've had since I was 9 or 10 years old," the 34-year-old pacifist told a news conference Monday. "I expect to have a very good time there and to be very frightened."

Miss Baez said she will leave today for two weeks of rallies and marching at the invitation of the Peace People of Ireland, a nonviolent movement organized by Protestant and Catholic women.

In Focus by Charlie Pensyl

What do you do with the photographs you make? Do you shoot color prints and then stuff them in a drawer? In an album? Or maybe you shoot slides and leave them in the little yellow box they came back in. Maybe you have those slides arranged into interesting sequences and stored in well-labeled Carousel trays ready to show at the drop of a hat. And, if you're really hip, you have filed those good slides that you didn't use in your slide shows in those little clips from the Kodak Slide Clip Set.

You know, a sequence of prints in an album can tell the story just like the sequence of slides in the slide tray, and the clever photographer, being aware of this fact, can put together an album or slide show that is a real joy to view. Presented in another way those same slides can be pretty dull.

The quality of the prints or slides is another factor in how well your photographic efforts are received by your friends. As we have stated so often, Kodak film should always be processed by a Kodak lab. And you can tell that it's processed by Kodak because it says on the slide mount and on the back of the print, PROCESSED BY KODAK. And just because the print has printed on the back "Kodak Paper" doesn't mean that it is processed by Kodak. It merely indicates that the lab that printed the pix used paper manufactured by Kodak. There's a difference. So improve your efforts by insisting on Kodak Processing.

Officers investigate several mishaps

Driverless auto hits two objects

A driverless automobile traveled across U.S. 22-E Monday and struck two stationary objects, Fayette County sheriff's deputies reported.

A car belonging to Ronald W. Babbs, 38, of Lancaster, was parked unattended with its motor running in front of the Sunoco Truck Stop, 1659 U.S. 22-E. The transmission reportedly slipped into reverse gear, and the car backed across a parking area, southward, and into a ditch on the north side of U.S. 22-E.

During its course of travel, the car struck a telephone junction box and a guardrail post. The car was slightly damaged in the 7:50 a.m. Monday accident.

Traveling east on the Bloomingburg-New Holland Road, a car driven by Robbie L. Vorhees, 18, of Jeffersonville, skidded on ice, sheriff's deputies said, and proceeded into a ditch on the right side of the road, just east of U.S. 35.

The car struck three rods of fence belonging to Alfred Carr, 2649 Bloomingburg-New Holland Road, at 7:15 a.m. Monday. The vehicle was slightly damaged.

A car driven by Richard A. Baughn, 16, of 2936 Palmer Road, was southbound on Ohio 41 when it went off the left side of the road, just north of U.S. 35, and struck a section of fence belonging to Emmett K. Shaper, 1002 Golfview Drive. The 7:10 a.m. Monday accident resulted in moderate damage to the automobile.

Three rods of fence belonging to Bill Thompson, 688 Wildwood Road, were damaged when struck by a car driven by Cindy S. Woods, 17, of Jeffersonville, at 7:45 a.m. Monday.

Sheriff's deputies said Miss Woods was southbound on the Prairie Road when she lost control of her car just south of the Parrott-Station Road and it went off the right side of the road. The car was moderately damaged.

Washington C.H. police officers investigated four Monday accidents.

8:38 a.m.—A car driven by Gladys A. Kirk, 30, of 4538 U.S. 62-S, was eastbound on Leesburg Avenue when it reportedly failed to slow in time and struck the rear of a truck ahead which was attempting to turn left into the Frisch's restaurant parking lot, Clinton Avenue.

The truck was driven by George D. Smith, 43, of Greenfield, and it incurred slight damage. Ms. Kirk was charged with failing to maintain an assured clear distance ahead. Her car was moderately damaged.

8:51 a.m.—Westbound on the inside lane of W. Court Street, a car driven by Carla Y. Dewitt Burns, 28, of Frankfort, was attempting to turn into the Red Head service station when it collided with a car proceeding east on Court Street.

The second car was driven by Arthur J. Boyles, 35, of Columbus, and it was severely damaged in the mishap. Ms. Burns was charged with making an improper left turn, and her car was moderately damaged.

9:55 a.m.—Attempting to cross Columbus Avenue from Delaware Street, a car driven by Otis Locey Jr., 46, of Fountain Ave., reported struck a car driven by Freddie A. Everman, 28, of Sabina, which was eastbound on Columbus Avenue. Everman's car was severely damaged. The Locey car was moderately damaged, and he was charged with failing to yield to an oncoming vehicle.

7:56 p.m.—A car driven by Frank Merritt, 43, of New Holland, was westbound on Washington Avenue, stopped in traffic at the Elm Street intersection.

Starting forward, Merritt's car reportedly struck a car ahead which was driven by Rickie E. Jester, 29, of 1023 Broadway St. Both cars were moderately damaged and Merritt was charged with starting without safety.

Thanksgiving observance held by Kiwanis Club

A special Thanksgiving observance was held at the regular weekly meeting of the Washington C.H. Kiwanis Club Monday night in the Terrace Lounge.

The Rev. Richard Ward was the speaker for the program arranged by Norman Armbrust. Rev. Ward attended a seminary in Dayton and has served nine different churches during his 40 years of ministerial work.

Rev. Ward spoke to the club on the many things one should be thankful for, but questioned whether all the things are recognized. He said Thanksgiving also means sharing and reflected that on any particular day we should ask how much we are sharing and how much the world really cares. He concluded the program with prayer after reading a story by Richard Hunter.

Several guests were present as part of the club's participation in "Farm and City Week." Guests were John Burr, Allen Hayes, Richard Gleadell, Wayne Clark, James Perrill, Kenneth Payton, Richard Craig, John Peterson, Ed Thompson and J.W. (Boots) Sears.

The Teen Talent Show was discussed and club president Tom Mossbarger reminded members of the annual family Christmas party scheduled for December 13 in the First Presbyterian Church.

Next week's meeting has been changed and a board meeting will be held in the First Presbyterian Church at the regular time.

Theft of chairs checked

A reported larceny of seven recliner chairs from a truck parked at a county truck stop was investigated Monday by Fayette County sheriff's deputies.

The chairs were reportedly stolen from the trailer portion of the tractor trailer rig belonging to the Dumas Brothers Manufacturing Co., of Jackson, Ala. Sheriff's deputies said the objects were taken sometime between last Thursday and Monday, while the truck was parked on the Sohio

Stop 35 truck stop parking lot, U.S. 35 and I-71.

Washington C.H. police officers reported that an alleged theft of mail from a residential mailbox took place sometime Sunday.

A check and various other unknown pieces of mail were reportedly taken from a mailbox belonging to Dorothy Mahoney, 724 Yeoman St., which was located in front of her residence.

PTO carnival report aired

MILLEDGEVILLE — The Jasper Elementary School PTO meeting was held recently at the school. It was announced that $1,610.82 was cleared at the recent Halloween carnival.

Mrs. Neal Brady asked that everyone continue to save Campbell Soup labels, and about 2,000 more are needed.

The Christmas program will be presented at 10 a.m. Dec. 23.

Mrs. Brady announced that a Book-

Board approves ditch project

The Fayette County Board of Commissioners approved the Riber ditch project Monday.

After the final hearing in the board office, the commissioners requested the county engineer to advertise for bids on the estimated $6,100 project.

The deadline for bids has been set for 11 a.m. Dec. 27.

The actual cost of the project including the construction, bonding, and administrative costs is $6,619.

Bernard Orr petitioned the board May 20 for the widening, deepening, cleaning, and straightening of the 3,664 Riber ditch, a branch of the Waddle ditch in Concord Township.

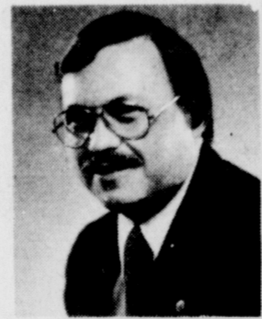

This 'n that

The names of two majorettes in the Community Education drill team story in Monday's edition of the Record-Herald were misspelled. The names should have been Lisa Slager, head majorette, and Lori Slager, front row member.

A car driven by Thelma Clay, 41, of 1046 Ohio 41-S, did not strike a parked car belonging to Anna L. Hayslip 34, of 6206 Palmer Road, as was reported in Monday's edition of the Record-Herald. The incident, reported as a result of a slight mix-up on the sheriff's report, should have designated Ms. Hayslip as the driver of the car and Ms. Clay as the owner of the parked car.

A cold westerly flow of air responsible for Ohio's chilling temperatures and scattered flurries continued to grip the state today.

More scattered flurries were to drift across the north and northeast portion of the state, but no significant snowfall was expected.

The flurries are expected to end completely tonight as winds become lighter and more southwesterly.

Temperatures will remain rather cold through Wednesday with daytime highs mostly in the 30s and lows tonight ranging from the mid teens to the mid 20s.

Simons named rail chief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Nat Simons, 50, of Columbus, has been named executive director of the newly created Ohio Rail Transportation Authority, at a salary of $29,500 a year.

He now is policy analyst in the transportation department.

Also approved Monday at a special meeting of the five-member authority was the employment of Carl E. Freshour as assistant director.

Freshour, who has been serving as acting director, will have his salary fixed at a later meeting, Chairman Paul T. Zellers said.

The legislature created the authority last year to research rail transportation needs in Ohio, and to make recommendations for an Ohio rail plan.

The Ohio Swiss Festival is held at Sugar Creek in late September.
